Forget Consolidation, Says Rural Areas

Resignation Demand Ignored

Radel Is Asking 7 To Quit Four Tell Press They Are Staying

Replies today from members of the education board, asked by Mayor Edwin F. Radel to resign because of their stand on school consolidation, indicated that none will oblige him.

The mayor indicated today that further action could be taken if the board does not comply with his request, but he said he would make no statement as to possible further action until he had studied reaction of the board members to his request.

Asks 7 To Resign

The mayor, in a letter dated July 7, asked for the resignation of seven on the nine-man board. County Judge Louis G. Bruhn, a board member did not vote for consolidation after it was defeated in an April 2 referendum, and another member, who favored consolidation, has since been replaced.

Four of the seven asked to quit said "No" without comment today. The others could not be reached, but it is expected that the sentiment of the four goes all the way.

Herzog on Vacation

Robert H. Herzog, recently re-elected president of the board, is on vacation and was out of the city. Andrew T. Gilday was recently named to the board to succeed Chester A. Baltz, who had served on the board 10 years.

A request from the recently named Common Council Committee, which was asked to clarify a point in the board's reported request for a referendum, again asks for a reply from the board.

Just prior to the Albany report against consolidation, the board had said it would be unethical to answer the committee.

Quit Now: Radel

Mayor Radel, in his letter asking for the resignations asked that they become "effective immediately."

The mayor wrote: "In view of the condemnation implicit in the findings of Commissioner of Education, Dr. James E. Allen Jr., and contained in an opinion rendered by him on the occasion of his refusal to sign a consolidation order for the Greater Kingston Area School District on July 2, 1958, I the undersigned, as Mayor of the City of Kingston, feel obligated to call upon you, and each of you, to submit your resignation as commissioner of the City of Kingston Board of Education effective immediately."

Lists Statement

Noting that Commissioner Allen, in announcing his decision against consolidation said, in part, "my reasons are based on a moral principle," the mayor listed the following statements by the commissioner:

"On the basis of this clear cut pledge on the part of the board that the will of the voters would be respected, I feel that it would be improper for me, as the state's chief school official, to ignore the action of the voters, together with the board's pledge. To do so would, in my opinion, jeopardize the good faith which may be expected of the Commissioner of Education, and indeed, of all government officials."

Heck Support Will Go to Rockefeller

Speaker's 50 Votes Give Contender 350 Potential Ballots; Needs 586

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck, once a top contender for the Republican nomination for governor, has decided to throw his support to Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The Associated Press learned today that Heck had decided finally to abandon his undeclared bid for the nomination and back Rockefeller's open drive.

Influence Helpful

Heck controls about 50 convention votes in the northeastern sector of the state, including the 16 votes of his home Schenectady County. He will shift these votes to Rockefeller.

In addition, he will lend to the Rockefeller camp the influence he wields among a host of party officials upstate. Heck has built a wide circle of friendships during his 22 years as boss of the Assembly.

Since he never declared himself a candidate, Heck probably will not make a public withdrawal. He is debating now whether to endorse Rockefeller publicly or simply to pass the word that he is backing him.

Need 586 For Nomination

It will take a majority of 586 votes to nominate a candidate at the party's state convention in Rochester next month. The nominee will face Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman, who is seeking a second term.

Heck's support boosts Rockefeller's potential delegate strength to at least 350. He has had public pledges indicating 119 votes Upstate and clear prospects of another 200 in New York City.

Rockefeller today began a four-day trip to seek support for his candidacy.

He visits Rockland County today, Dutchess County tonight and leaders in Saratoga, Oneida, St. Lawrence, Oswego, Onondaga and Cortland Counties in the next three days.

Dems See 'Hoax'

The Heck development came as the Democratic state chairman, Michael H. Prendergast, charged that the GOP's three-way contest for the nomination was "nothing" (Continued on Page 8, Col. 3)

North Korean Is Slain in Attack Planned by Self

SEOUL (AP)—A North Korean soldier armed with hand grenades and a submachinegun stole through the U. N. portion of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea July 4 and made a one-man attack on a U. N. military police shelter.

The Communist soldier tossed a grenade into the shelter, killing one South Korean soldier and wounding another. He started to throw another grenade, but a third South Korean soldier who had gone outside to investigate a noise shot him.

The intruder fell on his own grenade and was killed by its blast.

The story was told today in a communique from the U. N. Command, which termed the attack "one of the most bizarre incidents of the cold war in this bitterly divided peninsula."

The U. N. Command said Communist representatives on the joint observer team for the demilitarized zone claimed the incident was instigated by the U. N. Command. The Reds refused to acknowledge the attacker as one of their side or to accept his remains "in spite of a North Korean uniform and other material which, pointed to his Communist origin," the communique said.

Col. William R. Washington of Crozet, Va., chief of the U. N. observers, rejected the Red charge. He told the Communists the U. N. Command would give the attacker a decent burial if the Reds wouldn't accept the body.

Final Plans for Fair To Be Made Tomorrow

Final plans for the 1958 Ulster County Fair will be made tomorrow night at a meeting of directors, department superintendents and others who help stage this annual summer attraction. The meeting will be held here at 74 John Street at 8 p. m.

The fair takes place on August 20 and 21 at Forsyth Park in Kingston. As usual admission will be free.

In making this announcement today, C. C. DuMond Jr., president of the Ulster County Agricultural Society invited Kingston and Ulster County businessmen to arrange exhibits at the fair.

A nominal space rental is charged to help defray the necessary expenses.

DuMond said, "Most of the work is done by volunteers but there are necessary expenses, for instance, the ribbons given out cost over $300 alone. We also hire all-night watchmen, provide electric service for exhibitors and also pay interest on about $8,000 borrowed to pay the cash premiums."

Information about exhibit space may be obtained from Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, who serves as secretary of the fair.

CAUSE FOR SMILES—Mr. and Mrs. James F. Foster beam after being reunited in Jefferson, Ga., for the first time since the confession of a former Illinois policeman saved Foster from the electric chair. With the Fosters are five of their seven children. Left to right are Bill, 10; Stanley, 18; Patricia, 12; Sandra, 8; and Carol, 6.

Absent are Kenneth, 17; and Elizabeth, 15. Charles (Rocky) Rothschild, 34, formerly a Cairo, Ill., patrolman, admitted he, not Foster, killed Charles Drake, 60, a Jefferson merchant. Foster, a 40-year-old house painter from Greer, S. C., had been convicted and twice sentenced to death. (AP Wirephoto)

Saugerties School Tax Is $64.50

A basic tax rate of $64.50 for the record $1,311,504.90 Saugerties Central School District budget will be presented at the annual meeting of school district taxpayers at the Main Street School tonight at 8 o'clock.

The final rate to be announced tonight is 70 cents lower than the preliminary tax rate announced last week and was determined when actual balances at the end of the fiscal year were known.

Will Pay Additional

As taxpayers in the village (former district 10) and Glasco have bonded indebtedness incurred prior to centralization, their rates will be increased accordingly. Village residents must pay $2.88 per thousand more on assessed valuation, and Glasco taxpayers will pay $6.14 additional.

The village rate will be $67.38 and Glasco $70.64. Other taxpayers throughout the central district will pay the basic rate. The district provides 100 teachers for approximately 2,400 expected to be enrolled in September.

Transportation Up

The increase over last year's budget is $262,689.15 which includes higher transportation costs of $19,858.

Transportation costs increased due to new bus routes and increased school population. Approximately 1,226 pupils are expected to use the school buses next term.

Debt service increased $69,985.15 which is considerably higher than estimated when the interest rate was 3½ per cent. The actual rate is 4.25 per cent.

More for Teachers

An increase of $50,395 is listed in the budget for teachers contingency fund for extra teachers and substitutes. The election of three members to the board of education will be held Wednesday at the Main Street School from 12 noon to 9 p. m.

Board President William Ziegler representing District 1 and Henry Hauessler of District 3 are retiring from the board. Charles Riccardi of Glasco, representing District 2 is seeking reelection to the five-year term. He is running unopposed.

Candidates for Election

Seeking election to the two-year term left vacant by Ziegler are John C. Kerns of Barclay Heights and Richard Smith of Finger Street, both in the village.

Three candidates are seeking the five-year term left vacant by Hauessler. Henry S. Hoffman Jr., of Old Churchland Road, who resides in District 4; James J. Owens of Mt. Marion, and Victor F. Patience of Whittier, Flatbush.

District 1 includes the Village of Saugerties, or former District 10, before centralization. District 2 includes all of Glasco.

District 3 includes Flatbush, Glenrie, Mt. Marion, High Woods and Daisy.

President Signs Statehood Bill, Alaska Must Act

WASHINGTON (AP)—Statehood for Alaska now is up to the Alaskans themselves. And President Eisenhower almost forgot it.

He signed the Alaskan statehood bill Monday and commented: "Okay, now that's 49 states." But he quickly corrected himself and said, "No, maybe we don't do that until the plebiscite."

That was a reference to a provision in the bill requiring all Alaskans to vote whether they accept (Continued on Page 8, Col. 7)

Senate Probers to Check Missing Greenlease Money

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee is turning its spotlight on a $300,000 mystery — that of the missing Greenlease ransom money. Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy has confirmed a report by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat Monday that a number of St. Louisans who figured in the sensational kidnap-murder case during its missing money phase have been subpoenaed to appear before the committee.

The $300,000 is part of $600,000 that 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greenlease of Kansas City, paid kidnapers Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Brown Heady in 1953. The other half was recovered. Kennedy said committee investigators have developed information that some union officials might know something about the money. But he said no more.

Kennedy said subpoenas have been issued for Joseph Costello, owner of the Ace Cab Co. of St. Louis; John Hager, former driver for the cab company; and Robert B. (Barney) Baker, a reputed aide of Teamster Union President James R. Hoffa.

Hager was the cab driver credited with giving police the tip that led to Hall's arrest. He picked up Hall in St. Louis in October 1953 after Bobby Greenlease had been slain.

Baker reportedly was trustee of the Teamsters cab drivers local in St. Louis during the case. Hall and Mrs. Heady died together in Missouri's gas chamber Dec. 18, 1953.

Goldfine Tired, Gets Day's Postponement

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Harris subcommittee granted Bernard Goldfine a one-day postponement in testimony today but warned, "We are going to expect cooperation."

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark), chairman of the subcommittee investigating the gift-giving Goldfine's relations with federal officials, gave this reply to a request from Goldfine's attorneys for a postponement.

Prepared to Talk

Attorney Roger Robb said his Boston millionaire client came to Washington Sunday to prepare to answer committee interrogators again but had gone into "a state of physical and mental exhaustion" after a chain of spectacular events Monday.

Robb told the subcommittee at 10 a. m.—when Goldfine himself was supposed to have returned to the witness stand—that the discovery of a hidden microphone near a hotel suite occupied by Goldfine aides and theft of some of Goldfine's papers Monday had left Goldfine with little sleep and given him no time to bone up on committee questioning.

To Appear Tomorrow

"He has every expectation that he will be able to appear before the committee tomorrow and answer these questions," Robb said. The subcommittee ousted a staff investigator caught snooping on Goldfine aides with a hidden microphone.

Goldfine, 67, held the witness stand for two days last week in Harris' subcommittee inquiry into alleged federal favoritism to Goldfine because of Goldfine's friendship with President Eisenhower's top aide Sherman Adams.

Mushroom Firm Plans $2 Million Rosendale Plant

A mushroom growing and processing plant costing approximately $2,000,000 will be constructed in the Town of Rosendale in a relocation move to consolidate the operations of Knaust Brothers Products Inc. in the area within the next five years.

Plans for the project were presented by Warren H. Knaust, a member of the firm, to the Rosendale Town Board Monday night at the board rooms.

Would Begin Immediately

The proposed plant would be constructed on property now owned by the firm, and located near the railroad track on the Hickory Bush-Whiteport Road between Maple Hill and Binnewater. Knaust told the board and a large group of taxpayers assembled that the firm has about 2,500 running feet of land on both sides of the railroad. Work on the plant would start immediately.

The construction of the new plant to replace the one destroyed by fire recently in Coxsack, will initiate a relocation and centralization program which will eventually settle all company holdings in Ulster County, mainly in the Town of Rosendale.

Anxious To Start Own Plan Districts Feel Responsibility

Thrown out of gear when Commissioner of Education Dr. James E. Allen Jr., declined at this time to sign an order of consolidation creating the Greater Kingston Consolidation which would have consolidated 25 rural school districts with Kingston, both Kingston and the rural areas now face serious school problems.

At a special meeting of the Kingston board of education Monday evening a belated city school budget was adopted, provision was made for collection of school taxes and John Vines, chairman of the Rural Consolidation Committee told the Kingston board that consolidation was a dead issue so far as the rural areas were concerned and he asked the board to "dump it" and "do something to bring it to a head as quickly as possible."

Tax Rate Is $30.80

The budget totals $2,994,482.52 and sets a tax rate of $30.80, an increase of $1.84 over last year. The budget was presented on June 30 as a tentative budget to become the actual budget in the event consolidation was not approved. At the time the budget was presented a week ago, Commissioner Allen had not ruled on the consolidation. His decision not to sign a consolidation order came two days later.

Under the budget adopted Monday evening, current expenses are fixed at $2,712,074.32; debt service, $232,037.50; capital outlay, $50,370.70 and $5,000 for contingent fund.

Receipts from other than tax items total $1,718,027.34, leaving the amount to be raised by local tax levy $1,281,455.18.

State aid public money is estimated at $1,073,583.87.

Although Commissioner Allen stated that he considered the rural vote for consolidation "as continuing," Vines said he no longer considered it an effective vote and he said while there might be a moral obligation for Kingston to care for the rural children for the next few years, that obligation really fell on the rural districts and provision must now be made by those districts to care for the education of their children.

July 25 Final Date

The Kingston board set July 25 as the final date on which rural areas may let the Kingston school authorities know how many children they expect will be sending here in September.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Earl F. Soper told the board that date has been set after consultation with the district superintendent.

The date was set at July 25 in order to give some common school districts time to hold special meetings and authorize sending children to Kingston. Several of the districts, relying on the expectation that consolidation would go through, have not taken that necessary action.

'Dump' Plan, Vines Urges

In discussing the matter of consolidation, Vines stated the rural areas had for some five years studied centralization. Then the State suggested consolidation and that plan was given considerable study and the rural areas then "went all out for it," Vines said. Teacher Shortage Seen Still Critical in N. Y.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Despite a record number of teacher graduates from New York State schools, the shortage will remain critical in September.

The stark facts of supply and demand on the teacher market were outlined Monday by Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. Statistics compiled by the State Education Department, Allen said, indicate 11,010 graduates were eligible for state certificates in the elementary and secondary schools, against a demand for 13,340 new teachers.

But experience has shown, he said, that about 20 per cent of the graduates will not enter teaching and nearly 10 per cent will accept positions in other states.

Thus the supply drops to about 7,700.

There is a demand, Allen said, for 7,060 teachers in elementary schools, with only 4,650 graduates prepared for such posts.

An improvement in the supply of high school teachers was noted in the state survey, which showed 6,360 graduates eligible for secondary school teaching with 6,280 vacancies.

Enrollment will increase by nearly 100,000 pupils in September, Allen said. Nearly 4,000 new teachers, he added, will be needed to meet this boost. Others will be needed to replace teachers leaving the profession, to relieve overcrowding in classrooms and to teach courses not now offered.

Local Chemistry Teacher Studying At Union College

A teacher of chemistry and general science at Kingston High School is among the 50 secondary school teachers from 12 states and Washington, D. C., attending the fourth annual National Science Foundation Summer Institute of Science and Mathematics at Union College, Schenectady.

He is Leon Sayvetz of Rifton. A graduate of the University of Chicago, he is taking courses in chemistry and mathematics at the institute which runs from June 29 to Aug. 8.

Aimed at improving science teaching techniques in the secondary school field and bettering science teachers, the program at Union College is one of 103 being conducted during the summer at colleges and universities throughout the country.

The programs originated and are patterned after the General Electric Company's Science Teachers Fellowship Program pioneered at Union College 14 years ago. In addition to the 50 teachers studying at Union on the National Science Foundation grants this summer, are 55 secondary school chemistry and physics teachers studying under the GE summer program and 20 earth science teachers studying on a State sponsored program.

Urges Saugerties Fill B of E Post From District 3

Victor F. Patience of Whittier, Flatbush, a candidate for Saugerties board of education to represent District 3 urged school district voters in Wednesday's election to vote for a representative living in the district to assure representation.

The elections will be held at the Main Street School from 12 noon to 9 p. m.

Besides Patience two other candidates have filed petitions seeking the post on the board of education left vacant by Henry Hausser of Mt. Marion who is retiring from the board.

They are: James J. Owens of Mt. Marion and Harry S. Hoffman of Churchland, who resides in District 4.

There are no legal restrictions against any one in the centralized school district petitioning for the vacancy. However when centralization was established in the district there was a "gentlemen's agreement" that candidates for vacancies be drawn from the districts they represent. Patience said.

Termites Cost $5,000

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — Ashland's floodwall has been invaded by termites. The insects have eaten away a cork-like filler from the joints in an eight-block-long section of the wall. Floodwall Supt. L. E. McGuire says it will cost about $5,000 to replace the filler. About 290 seams will be refilled with termite-repellent sealer.

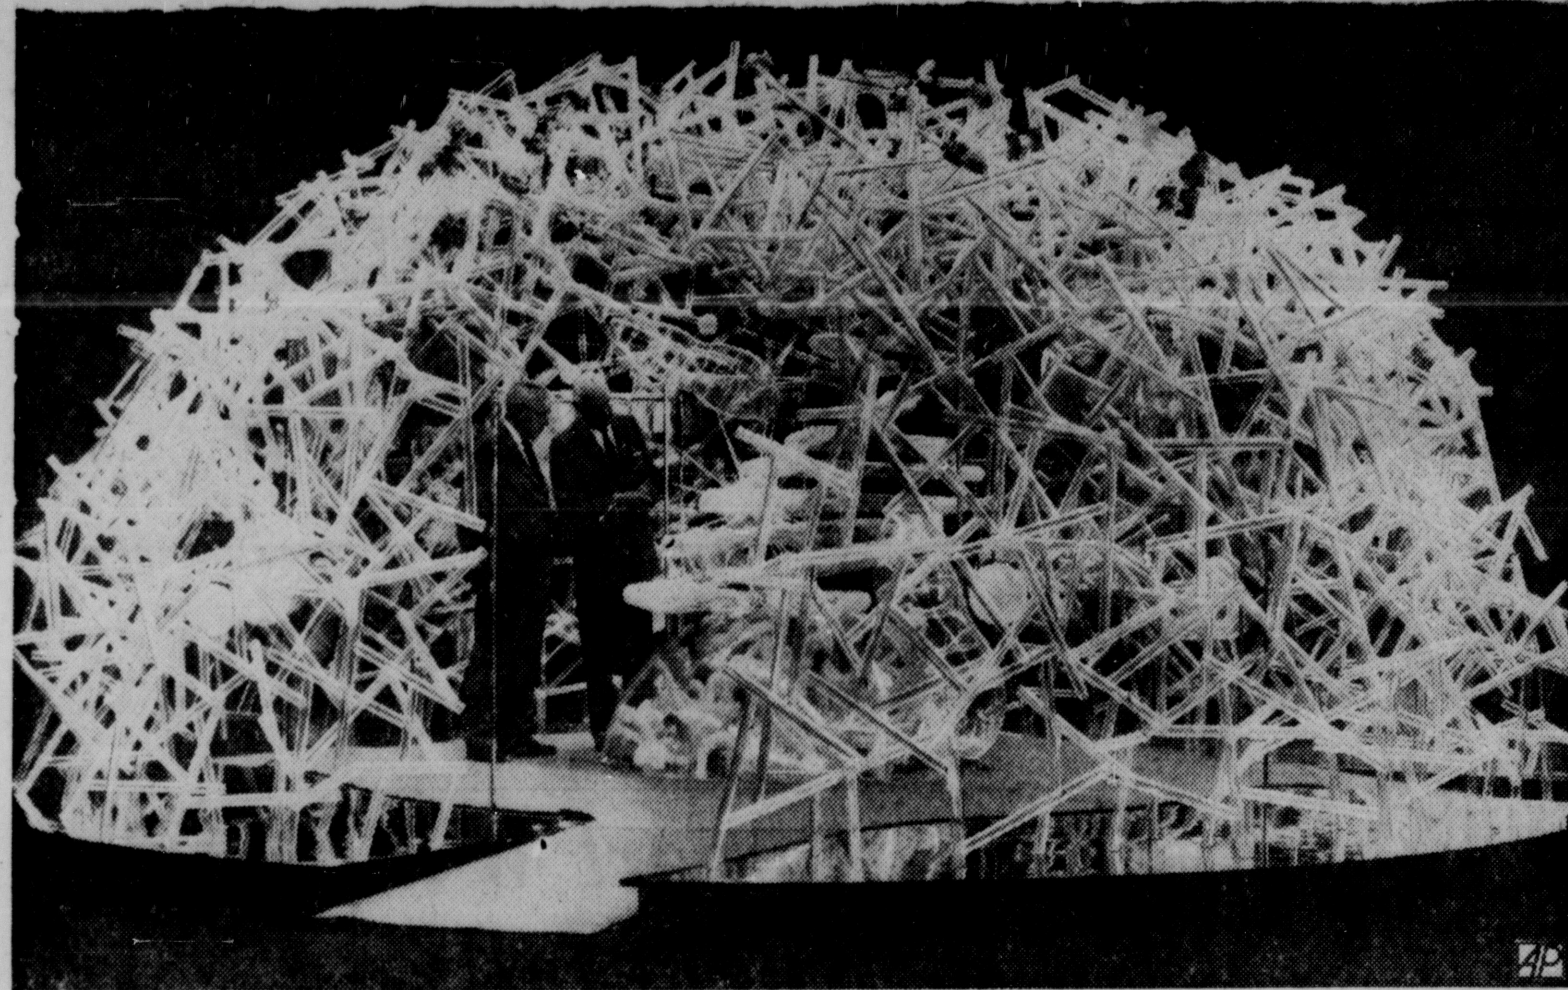

Charge Is Dismissed

A charge of driving while intoxicated against James A. Gardner Jr., 36, of 55 Smith Avenue, was dismissed in city court today on technical grounds. Gardner was arrested June 30 by Officers Edward Leonard and Richard Scherer, who said the car which Gardner drove had struck garbage cans and a fire hydrant in the vicinity of Broadway and Foxhall Avenue. Attorney Hubert A. Richter appeared for the defendant and John E. Golletti for the district attorney's office. The case of Samuel D. Peterman, 63, of 51 Cedar Street, charged with sale of beer to minors, was put over to July 21. He was arrested June 24, and it is alleged that he sold quarts of beer to minors. He is represented by Attorney Charles J. Saccoman.

Held on Assault Charge

Robert Fenton, Rt. 2, Box 231, Kingston, was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Dulles and Reither Monday evening on Route 28, Town of Ulster, on a charge of assault, third degree, lodged by Marie Fenton. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Millard Davis of the town of Ulster, Fenton was held in $200 bail for a hearing on Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Mushroom Firm

was reported exclusively in the Freeman on Thursday.

Knaust told the board, K-B Products, Inc., has been in business for 37 years and is the largest producer of mushrooms in the world. He said the firm produces more than 33 per cent of all mushrooms grown in the United States. There are 4,000 other growers in the nation and the firm's chief competition comes from Pennsylvania.

Would Employ 10,000

The firm employs about 1,000 people now and in the next five years expects to increase that to 10,000. Knaust told the board, currently 350 to 400 residents of Ulster County are employed by the firm.

He presented three problems which must be discussed in detail at a later date with the Town Board and the Town Board of Assessors.

Knaust said his firm would require an adequate road to new plant, rail transportation and questions about the plan and an equitable assessed valuation placed on the new proposed plant.

Needs Rail Siding

Regarding transportation, he said he was meeting with rail officials today to discuss the installation of a railroad siding to the proposed plant. Knaust said the firm currently receives about 600 carloads of compost a year at Greene County plants, and this would be coming into Rosendale.

During the discussion on personnel, Knaust said present employees would be given preference and could work in the new plant if they so desired.

Justice of the Peace William P. Curran said the board and those assembled asked numerous questions about the plan and it appeared they were answered by Knaust to their complete satisfaction.

Curran speaking to the group said:

"We appreciate Knaust Brothers coming to the board and explaining the plans of this proposed industry, and speaking for myself and the citizens of Rosendale, I can say with reasonable certainty, the people of Rosendale welcome the industry and look forward to a pleasant and amicable relationship. It will add a degree of prosperity to Rosendale," he added.

Notes Cost-Cutting

In Thursday's Freeman, Henry Knaust, a senior partner in the firm said the relocation of plants in the Kingston-Rosendale area would cut down the costs of transportation, and the eventual relocation of the canning plant from Hudson to this area would eliminate the cost of transporting the fresh mushrooms across the river to the Columbia County plant.

The younger Knaust told the Town Board last night that the firm had made extensive alterations at the Hudson canning plant and that move would not be made for about four or five years.

Nationals Take 2-1 Lead In First of Star Classic

BALTIMORE (AP) — The National League took a 2-1 lead over the American in the first inning of the major league All-Star game today.

The Nationals rapped Bob Turley for two hits, combined with a sacrifice fly, a hit batsman, a walk and a wild pitch for their two runs. The Americans got one on an error, Mickey Mantle's single and a double play which allowed Nelson Fox to score.

NATIONAL FIRST

Mays slashed Turley's first pitch off the third base bag for a single.

Skinner lined to Jensen. On a hit and run play, Musial singled to right. Mays reaching third. It was Musial's 17th hit, breaking his own All-Star record.

Aaron flied to Mantle in deep left center, Mays scoring after the catch as Musial held first.

Banks was hit on the back by a pitch. Thomas walked, filling the bases.

Turley's first pitch to Mazerowski bounced off Triandos' out.

NATIONAL SECOND

Crandall flied to Cerv. Spahn walked.

Mays bounced to Malzone whose throw to Fox forced Spahn at second.

Mays stole second and continued to third on Tirandos' wide throw that got past Fox.

Skinner singled, scoring Mays. Ray Narleski replaced Turley. Mays popped to Fox.

One run, one hit, one error, one left. (run is earned.)

Surveying Started For New Water Mains in Glasco

Morrell Vrooman, consulting engineers of Gloversville are surveying the right of way for the proposed new water main in Glasco Water District, The Freeman learned today.

Work by the Vrooman firm started Monday in preparation for the drafting of specifications for laying an additional water main to alleviate low pressure conditions reported at a special meeting of town and village officials.

At that time it was reported that approximately 3,000 feet of six-inch line which the officials believe is slowing down the pressure, must be supplemented with an additional line from the Saugerties Village tap at Barclay Heights.

It was mentioned at the meeting that the cost would be approximately $18,000 to $25,000.

Over a week ago the Glasco Water Commissioners restricted the use of water within the water district to hold pressure in the event of a fire emergency. The commissioners have urged the public to cooperate by discontinuing the use of hoses and sprinklers until the new main is installed.

Glasco Water District purchases water from the village system and taps into a six-inch water main at the village line. According to a preliminary survey, this line must be supplemented to give an adequate flow for fire protection and to service the hundreds of new homes built in the district in the past few years.

The village draws its water from the Blue Mountain Reservoir.

Kingston Bridge June Business Ahead of 1957

Travel on the Kingston-Rhineland Bridge in June was ahead of last year but other spans showed losses, the New York State Bridge Authority reported today.

The local span with a total of 70,788 vehicles gained 5,642 over the 65,146 clocked in June, 1957.

John S. Stillman, the authority's chairman, reported that overall traffic on all spans dropped .78 percent in June this year. The Mid-Hudson Bridge, at Poughkeepsie, showed a drop of 11,263 vehicles.

Total traffic on the four bridges was 708,383 vehicles for June, 1958, compared to 713,944 during June, 1957. The Newburgh-Beacon Ferry carried 42,516 vehicles during June compared to 43,993 for the same month in the previous year. Details for the individual bridges showed:

Rip Van Winkle Bridge: 150,433 vehicles for June this year compared to 151,775 vehicles last year—a decrease of .88 per cent.

Bear Mountain Bridge: 150,741 vehicles for June, 1958, comto the children is also at stake. Our children are taught in school the importance of basic moral values. Can we expect them to heed such teaching, and believe in the importance of such values, if we ourselves fail to adhere to them."

Committee's Letter

The letter from the Common Council committee said:

"As the special Common Council committee of the Kingston Common Council designated to obtain an answer from you relating to certain charges made before the Common Council by Mr. Eugene DeDea on June 17, we hereby reiterate our request for an answer from you to our letter of June 26.

"We understand that you have heretofore felt that you were unable to supply such answers during the pendency of the proceedings before Commissioner James E. Allen. These proceedings having since been terminated, the impediment urged, no longer exists."

The committee composed of Majority Leader James K. Ryan (D) 10th Ward, William A. Davis (R) 11th Ward, minority leader, and Frank C. Sass (D) Seventh Ward, was named to determine whether a statement by DeDea of the Kingston Civic Association would be denied or confirmed by the board. He had quoted Andrew J. Cook Jr., as saying in Albany that a statement to the press indicating that the board had been given permission to hold a referendum on consolidation, "was in fact false."

Members of the board asked to resign included its president, Robert H. Herzog, along with commissioners Robert B. O'Reilly, Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker Jr., Harold Darling, George W. Schneider and David Kline.

Stand Their Ground

Mrs. Connelly, O'Reilly, Kline and Schneider said they would not resign.

A section of the City Charter pertaining to the mayor's powers of appointment and removal, says in part that "Such appointees, except the special city judge, and members of the Board of Education shall hold office during the pleasure of the mayor, and may at any time be removed from office by the mayor."

Public hearing and Common Council action, it is indicated, would be required for removal of commissioners from the education board.

Thfts Reported

Sections of hose, two gauges, and other items were reported stolen from a New York Central Railroad storage box near the Devo elder mill yesterday. An earlier report also indicated that the elder mill had been entered, but nothing was reported missing. Another report yesterday said a dump truck with a red cab had stolen some wood from the property of the Quality Maple Block plant, Devo Street.

Forget...

Association has now placed the rural areas "behind the eight ball" and Vines said that since the commissioner of education had seen fit to say "no" to consolidation at this time he called on the board to "dump" the plan.

Vines thanked the local board for its sincere cooperation and said that while the local board might have a "moral obligation" for the next few years to care for our children—you can't house us forever and we can't wait forever." He said the rural districts must act now.

Asks Quick Action

"Year after year you will gradually throw us out," Vines said and he asked the board to take action to bring the matter to a head "as quickly as possible."

So far as consolidation is concerned it is a dead issue with the rural areas and Vines said they must now turn to a plan for centralization, since the obligation to care for the education of the rural children rested with the rural areas.

Expressing a belief that Kingston cannot carry a vote for consolidation, he asked for a quick vote if one is to be taken.

Reginald Russell, principal of the Chambers School, Town of Ulster, said a meeting which had been called by the rural schools at the Hurley school had been canceled when it was learned the Kingston board of education was to meet in special session. The meeting had been canceled to await any action by the Kingston board.

At the time consolidation was pending, Superintendent Soper said, a plan has been devised to accept students from rural districts if other districts would cooperate in the exchange of pupils. This plan may not now develop, he said, and he suggested a deadline be set for acceptance of out of town students into the Kingston schools. Time was needed to set up the necessary school rooms, secure teachers and make other adjustments. He suggested the July 25 deadline for commitment from rural districts to notify the local school authorities and that date was approved by the Rules Committee and adopted.

No non-resident students will be accepted after Friday, July 25.

No Action on Letters

The board took no action on two letters received, one asking that members of the board of education resign because of their action in voting for consolidation after consolidation had been turned down at an informal referendum and a letter from a special committee of the Common Council asking the board to issue a statement regarding the matter of whether the board of education had asked for and received permission to hold a referendum on the proposition of consolidation.

Copies of both letters were on the desk of each member of the board but they were not discussed at the meeting.

It was stated that since the letter calling for the resignation of the board members was a matter for personal consideration, that matter was left to the individual members for consideration. Trustee Andrew T. Gilday, recently appointed to the board, is not concerned with that request since his appointment did not become effective until July 1st and Trustee Louis G. Bruhn was not included among those who were requested to resign since he had voted in opposition to consolidation.

Go to Committee

The letter from the Common Council special committee asking for a clarification of the consolidation referendum letter was referred to the Rules Committee and the Greater Kingston School District Committee and that matter will be taken up as official business later, the clerk of the board informed The Freeman today.

Appointment of two mathematics teachers was announced. They are Patricia Ann Carapellucci of Schenectady at an annual salary of $4,200 and Onofrio Monacurro Jr., of Elba, N. Y. Mrs. Agatha Flick Snyder was appointed teacher of English at an annual salary of $3,100.

Collector Named

Mrs. Edna S. Morgan, an account clerk, was named collector-treasurer at an annual salary of $800 in addition to her present salary. She will replace Miss Alice E. Toole who was recently appointed on a temporary basis.

A contract to supply fluorescent fixtures at school No. 2 was awarded to City Electric of Kingston for $2,154.60. Installation will be by Hunter Electric under separate contract.

Permission was granted Barber Shop Society, Kingston Chapter, for use of the high school auditorium on November 15 for a concert. If the high school auditorium is not available the concert will be at Washington School.

The letter from Commissioner Allen directed to President Robert H. Herzog which accompanied the commissioner's refusal to make the order for consolidation, was read and referred to the Greater Kingston School Committee.

In the absence of President Herzog, Vice President Robert B. O'Reilly presided.

The following committees were named:

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
SEND HIM HOME!

A diplomat is a big gun with a smooth bore. The latest such is Commissar Menshikov, the Communist Ambassador to U. S. When Khrushchev decided to put on his Sunday suit, and smile, smile, he sent this smooth bore over. Menshikov speaks English, wears the latest evening clothes, dances gracefully, uses big cocktail glasses and kisses the babies.

MR. HUTTON

His job is to tell us that his bosses in the Kremlin are "good old Joe's," and don't mean what they say about burying us. For a time all went as merry as a wedding bell. This was the "new look." Our native boos who love every country but their own, went gaga over Mr. and Mrs. Menshikov. Such nice people! But soon the wolf showed through the fleece. Given the courtesy of a television speech, Menshikov said that while he knew our people didn't want war, he was not so sure about our Government—meaning, chiefly, the President. This was a snide effort to split us from our chosen leaders. It was a shot from the Kremlin's big gun through the small bore. For similar conduct, President Washington demanded that France recall Ambassador Genet. And for interfering in a political campaign, President Cleveland sent a British Ambassador home.

Eisenhower should do the same. When Nixon was spat on, we acted as if it was our own fault. Palsy-walsing with gangsters will get us nowhere.

Bronx Man Held

NEW YORK (AP)—John Joseph Hunter, 44, of The Bronx, was arrested Monday night by state police and city detectives of the safe and loft squad.

Hunter was held for other authorities. Police said he was arrested on a warrant charging him with third degree burglary and possession of burglar's tools in Albany County.

The warrant for his arrest, issued June 3, was signed by George Meyl, district attorney of Albany County.

Brothers Are Victims

HEUVELTON, N. Y. (AP)—Two teen-age brothers were killed Monday night when an automobile in which they were riding overturned along Route 87 two miles west of this St. Lawrence County community.

State police identified the boys as Ronald Raven, 15, and Wendell Raven, 13, of Heuvelton.

300 Sweat it Out

NEW YORK (AP)—Almost 300 Brooklyn-bound passengers spent up to an hour and 49 dark and sweat-filled minutes Monday in two subway trains under the East River.

A faulty mechanism on one of the trains had ripped up a third rail, causing a power failure and the passengers' uncomfortable interlude.

The second train was grounded when it passed over the damaged rail.

The passengers sat in darkness relieved only by dim emergency lights. The loss of electric power stopped the ventilating fans in the trains.

$25,000 Garage Damage Linked To 5 Young Boys

NEW YORK (AP)—Five boys, the oldest 15, were accused today of causing $25,000 worth of damage in a three-day campaign of vandalism at a garage on Manhattan's West Side.

Police said the teen-agers broke into the Clark Equipment Co. garage on Independence Day and, using powerful fork lifts as battering rams, spread devastation among five panel trucks, two automobiles and 31 of the cargo loaders.

Again and again, they rammed the loaders into each other, their two-pronged forks ripping apart every obstacle. One new, specially built $8,000 fork lift was knocked over and damaged beyond repair.

They had so much fun, police said, they returned to the garage the next two days.

All five were picked up and booked on juvenile delinquency charges and released in their parents' custody for Children's Court appearances.

Job Situation Will Work Both Ways

WASHINGTON (AP)—A flood of students holding and hunting summer jobs is expected to bring sharp increases in both employment and unemployment in the government's June work survey due today.

The new jobless total may soar to the highest recorded figure since before World War II.

June increases were anticipated in the neighborhood of 1½ million from the May figure of 64,061,000 employed and about 500,000 in May's 4,904,000 unemployed.

Elect Coast Man New Elks Ruler

NEW YORK (AP) — Horace R. Wisely, newly elected grand exalted ruler of the Elks, says he intends "to emphasize a business administration for the express purpose of helping build strong lodges."

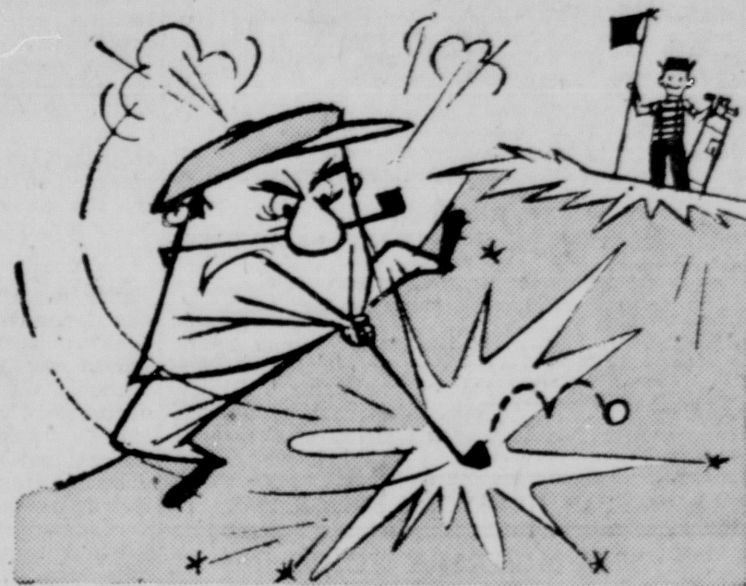

"My program," he added in his acceptance speech, "is aimed at lodge betterment through improved administration and through increased pride of membership."

Wisely, a 54-year-old Salinas, Calif., business man, was elected to the top national office yesterday at the 94th grand lodge convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

He received 1,764 votes to 203 for Cyril A. Kremser, a printer of Lakewood, Ohio. Kremser also sought the top post without success in 1956.

Other officers were elected without opposition.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 8, 1958

THE MILITARY VOICE

When Defense Secretary McElroy objected to Admiral Arleigh Burke's Senate testimony because it disagreed with administration views on defense reorganization, the reaction in Congress was immediate and strong. McElroy was forced to back down to the extent of giving written assurance that top Pentagon leaders would be free to testify before Congress without fear of reprisals.

That is a gratifying outcome of a controversy which had been simmering for some time. The point has been established now that, although top military brass must obey orders of the president as commander-in-chief of the armed forces, they also have an obligation to aid Congress in carrying out its Constitutional function with regard to those same armed forces.

The very first article of the Constitution sets forth that Congress shall have power "to raise and support armies . . . to provide and maintain a navy," and "to make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces." The power of Congress to do these things would be severely crippled if the secretary of defense or the president were able to prevent officers from testifying on request.

This does not mean that any military man should be able to run to Congress with his troubles the moment he disagrees with his superiors. But Congress should by all means have access to the testimony of both military and civilian defense officials. Without such expert testimony, it would not be able to carry out the directives written into our basic law.

DOES IKE NEED ADAMS?

It was inevitable from the start that opinions about the connection between Sherman Adams and Bernard Goldfine would take on a strong political coloration. More recent disclosures concerning the free-spending industrialist's gifts and business dealings have tended to deepen this coloration.

It is still possible, however, to consider one aspect of the matter from the standpoint of the national good without regard to partisanship. This aspect involves the question whether President Eisenhower should let his top assistant go in order to reassure the public as to his own firm grasp of the executive reins.

The President himself brought about this question when, at his June 18 press conference, he expressed faith in Adams' integrity but also said flatly, "I need him." It is that simple declarative sentence, "I need him," that the public remembers; it was this statement that was emphasized by correspondents on July 2 when the President reaffirmed his earlier remarks.

Though Sherman Adams may be morally blameless, his reputation for discretion and judgment has been damaged. Is he, under the circumstances, indispensable? Public confidence in the continuing vigor of presidential authority hangs, at least in some measure, on how President Eisenhower finally answers that question.

IT COULD BE YOU

When you see a fire engine go roaring by, you may wonder for a second or two "can it be headed for my house." Then you dismiss it from your mind. You might not be so complacent if the figures on fire losses were placed before you in big red letters.

During 1956, there were 865,561 reported fires in communities of 2,500 or more population which means that a fire started every 37 seconds.

Almost everything you own, from a house down to a dishpan, costs twice as much today as it did a comparatively few years back.

In most cases, even though you are carrying double the insurance you carried 15 years ago, you would still be out of pocket in replacing the things destroyed by fire. Your best protection is to see that every

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A HEAP OF PREJUDICE

Robert D. Morrow, superintendent of the Tucson public schools, writes me:

"I, too, admire Sherman Adams, but his conduct in the Goldfine case is certainly regrettable, if not reprehensible."

But I do not admire Sherman Adams; I only ask that he get a fair trial. I do not need to admire a man to believe in essential justice. If Sherman Adams committed an offense, pluck out his right eye, cut off his head or do whatever is customary; but it is necessary first to establish that he committed an offense. Up to the moment of writing, he has not, in my opinion, even been proved to be indiscreet.

Morrow's letter, however, is not designed to defend Adams but to quarrel with me over the public schools. He says:

"... Is it possible that your judgment in this case, as in your evaluation of our schools, is based upon personal prejudice—that at times you see the world through rose-colored glasses, while at other times you see only with a 'jaundiced eye'?"

It is too serious a matter to view our schools either with "jaundiced eyes," as the superintendent suggests or through rose-colored glasses such as Nero used to make him feel good. What is involved are not schools, not superintendents or teachers but children. And by now, all sorts of authorities, as well as laymen, have jumped on the bandwagon to propose improvement in the educational institutions of this country. There is a recent Rockefeller Report on the subject which is worth reading.

Elementary and intermediate schools exist to provide tools to young people to accomplish specific tasks. The schools, apart from aiding in the character building process which is most important in the younger years, must develop facilities, either to proceed for a superior education or to engage in vocations to earn a living. There is the additional factor of decent citizenship.

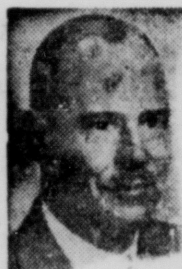

If the purpose of the school system is to do little more than to care for youngsters between the ages of 6 to 16 or 18, and to provide jobs for a multitude of teachers, janitors and other school officials, then it is not worth the price we have to pay for it. Also, at the present stage of our national developments, we cannot afford the cost of ignorance. Therefore, the school system which has gone its merry way since the 1880's with much review but little improvement, requires re-study. We ought to have the best that can be devised for our children.

Obviously when thousands of children enter college who do not know their native tongue, speak in a gutter-jargon, have read little of its beautiful literature; when their arithmetic would indicate that they have devoted little time to an unpleasant subject and cannot take scientific courses because they have no basic knowledge; and when they know nothing of the history of their own country or its system of government—something is wrong. Our children do not learn foreign languages, not because they are not linguists, but because they start late and suffer a method of teaching which has long been abandoned in other countries and by our military forces in war where there was no time to waste.

If a young boy or girl has to take courses in the freshman year at college which should have been completed in high school, then the high school system is inadequate. Instead of wasting college years with high school work, the colleges should decline to admit such students. I have come across A students in high schools who pass their college entrance and their aptitude tests very poorly or fail. How is this possible? How can an A student fail a college entrance examination which other children pass? How can such children fail the college entrance examinations more than once when children from other schools do not fail?

The answer must be that the schools from which they come do not train them for college. Such schools make a wonderful show locally—a good basketball team, plenty of peppy majorettes, lots of enthusiasm in school and on the field, a good glee club and orchestra, even an annual show. But what do the kids know? What are they prepared for? Who has the right to waste four years of their lives?

Operation May Be Only Way To Diagnose Adhesions

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

A. L. writes that he has never had an operation, but is told that he has a lot of adhesions which are causing pain in the stomach. He wants to know something of the cause and what can be done.

Before discussing adhesions in general, I might say that while they may be responsible for symptoms in the abdominal cavity and digestive organs, there are a lot of other disorders of the stomach, gall bladder or elsewhere in the digestive tract which are probably much more common causes of distress than adhesions.

Consequently, a number of other possible reasons for the "stomach" pains should be eliminated before the fault is laid at the door of adhesions.

Adhesions are made up of tissue similar to that of ordinary scars on the skin. When observed under the microscope, adhesions appear as slightly elastic fibers. Technically this is called fibrous tissue.

The body tends to respond to any infection or injury by forming such tissue. The response is not related to the particular nature of the damage but is merely one of nature's attempts to heal injury.

Hence there may be adhesions present inside the abdominal cavity from minor inflammation (of the appendix, for example) as well as following surgery.

Once formed, adhesions may or may not produce difficulty. The fibrous tissue has a tendency to contract. Thus, if adhesions have formed around a loop of the intestines they may draw tighter and tighter, preventing the free flow of intestinal contents. This, in turn, can produce symptoms and may require an operation to cut these bands of fibrous tissue and free the partly strangulated intestine.

What to do for adhesions depends on where the adhesions are located, what normal structures of the body they surround and what this contraction is doing to the organs involved. But adhesions themselves cannot be seen by X-rays, so that diagnosis is often difficult.

Some people tend to develop adhesions much more readily than others. This raises a troublesome problem, because in such people new adhesions are likely to form even after the old ones have been cut or removed.

Placing the blame on adhesions for vague abdominal distress is likely to be difficult. Sometimes it can be done only at operation when the region under suspicion comes under the scrutiny of the surgeon.

Adhesions do not lead to cancer, as some have asked me, but neither can they be cured by any medicines taken by mouth or given by injection.

If A. L.'s symptoms are severe enough, and nothing else responsible can be found, it may be necessary to open the abdominal cavity to see if the adhesions can be cut and thereby bring relief. possible hazard around your property is reduced to the minimum. It is cheaper to call in an electrician or furnace man to make needed repairs and replacements than it is to call the fire department.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The United States government began the new 1959 fiscal year on July 1 with the gloomiest peacetime financial outlook in its history.

It faces a budget deficit that may reach 10 billion dollars. It could go even higher if Congress enacts some of the fancier tax cut and economic recovery plans still under consideration.

Just for the sake of comparison, the budget deficit was 9.4 billion dollars in 1953, last year of the Korean war.

The record for the 1958 fiscal year which closed June 30 isn't too good. Final figures won't be available till August. But present estimates are that instead of showing the 400 million dollar deficit which the administration estimated last January, it will approach a whopping three billion.

Tax receipts, cut by the recession, will be down to 70 billion dollars instead of the 72.4 billion anticipated. Expenditures will be over 73 billion.

This is small change, however, compared to the outlook for the 12 months ahead. The situation is so bad that Budget Bureau officials have started to protest about it in their nice, polite kind of way.

BUDGET DIRECTOR MAURICE H. STANS spelled it out for the Senate Finance Committee in urging continuation of present tax rates for another year at least.

Deputy Director Robert E. Merriam delivered another load of the same in a speech before the Young Presidents' organization at Lake Geneva, Wis.

Other administration officials will have to begin talking this same language, only louder, if the country is to be saved from another high, wide and handsome spending orgy.

Congress isn't through with the 1959 appropriation bills yet, so final figures can't be given. But in brief, this is what has happened so far, as analyzed by Budget Bureau:

The Eisenhower administration asked for 500 million dollars more for missiles and other new defense programs. It now appears this will be exceeded by "several hundred million," says Mr. Stans.

Administration and congressional actions to overcome the recession will cost two billion dollars more than contemplated in the January budget. This includes new highway, housing and unemployment insurance benefits legislation, acceleration of public works projects already under way.

Other expenditure increases having nothing to do with overcoming the recession will cost up to three billion dollars more. The bumper wheat, crop will mean increased price support payments. Atomic energy and the new outer space agency will be given more money than was planned. Three government pay increase bills costing 1.4 billion in 1959 had retroactive raises tacked on, payable in July and upping this year's costs.

The one favorable factor in the whole situation is that interest payments on the public debt, estimated at 7.9 billion dollars last January, may be reduced half a billion because of generally lower interest rates now prevalent.

WHAT IT ALL ADDS UP TO, however, is that expenditures for the new fiscal year, instead of being at the 74 billion dollar level anticipated, will be close to 80 billion.

This is further aggravated by the fact that tax receipts, instead of being about 74 billion dollars as anticipated, will be down to around 70 billion. With expenditures up six billion dollars and receipts down four billion, there's your 10 billion deficit. This is a minimum, unless present form is reversed.

As Deputy Budget Director Merriam points out, there are still before Congress bills which would raise personal income tax exemptions and cut small business and excise taxes for a total of 13 billion dollars.

Other bills providing for aid to education, more public works, community loans, farm income improvement and pensions for all war veterans over 60 years of age would increase expenditures by 28 billion dollars a year.

Someday, somewhere, somehow—somebody is going to wake up to what goes on here, and stop it.

Vendetta Aspects Decried In Probe of Business Man

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The "mess fixed on those weaknesses, in Congress" continues. Now it turns out that a chief investigator for a Congressional committee arranged for a hidden microphone in the hotel room of a witness. He was promptly fired, but will the committee use the information unlawfully gathered for nearly a week? Also a portion of the witness' papers was stolen from his locked room over the weekend. Responsibility for the theft has not yet been fixed by the Washington police or by the FBI.

This is a sequel to many other strange happenings which indicate that a committee of Congress has allowed itself to be used to carry on a personal vendetta between business men. What the country is told is that this is somehow all germane to an investigation of independent commissions and boards and the way persons seek to influence them.

Actually it is developing into a smear of Congress itself, as well as of men in public office. To imply, in effect, that men in Washington, both in the executive and legislative branches, are crooked because they take gifts from some one who does business with the government is to besmirch officialdom as a whole.

For the emphasis now is on suspicion and not on evidence of wrongdoing.

The Supreme Court of the United States again and again has frowned on what it terms "fishing expeditions" by Congressional committees. There is no authority under the Constitution to require a witness to disclose in public his private business affairs unless it can be proved that some particular piece of information is germane to the hearing.

Leak Technique

But the technique used is to leak something out to a hostile press representative who is also engaged in a sneering job. Then, unless the witness reveals all the details of his business, no matter how irrelevant it may be to the inquiry itself, he is held up in the headlines as having suppressed something. The end result is to force him to testify on unrelated matters concerning his methods of fighting business competitors.

Congressional investigations are important to the conduct of government. They have been of inestimable value in exposing weaknesses in the governmental structure. But the inquiries have been most successful when the committees have kept their eyes fixed on those weaknesses, rather than allowing their inquiries to be used as a vehicle of mud-slinging.

Today the revelation that Sherman Adams accepted gifts from a business man who happened to be his close friend has been exaggerated into a widely unlawful was done. Actually no such evidence has been produced. Even the business man who showered his gifts, including vicuna coats, on governors of states as well as employees in the Federal government has not been found to have exerted any improper influence on any governmental agency. His inquiries were lawfully made.

But the Congressional committee has not been content to confine itself to pertinent evidence. It has delved into the realm of tax deductions and tax returns as if to imply that because the business man made an inaccurate computation on some expenses involving negligible amounts of taxes, this constitutes proof of his intent to exert an improper influence on a governmental commission through the medium of a friend.

Many people have jumped to the conclusion that just because the episode is full of innuendos and implications of impropriety, there must necessarily have been some kind of a crime committed. The House committee has not taken pains to hold the scales of justice even. It has through impromptu statements to the press by committee members who have put their own hostile interpretations on testimony and on the character of the witnesses appearing before the committee.

There have been excesses in Congressional hearings before, but never has a committee allowed itself to be used in this way as a vehicle for the venting of spleen by one business man against another. Nor have committee investigators before engaged in such high-handed tactics as now are being revealed. The quicker the "mess in Congress" is cleaned up by the Democratic party's current leadership, the sooner the country will begin to think better of its legislators. For the old principle of Anglo-Saxon law that a man is presumed innocent until proved guilty has been completely reversed and a committee of Congress through its behavior has proclaimed in effect that a man is guilty until proved innocent.

NEW YORK (AP)—Easy money and the industrial slump are slowing down the rate of gain in net operating earnings of the nation's banks in many parts of the nation. A few even report making less than a year ago when tight money was boosting their profits at a smart clip.

But don't weep for them yet. Easy money also has provided a windfall. This is the rise in the price of bonds, particularly the government securities that banks like.

As a group the nation's largest banks are able to show continuing net operating gains, mostly in the range of 2 to 6 per cent. But this time last year they were reporting the 1956 earnings by 10 to 20 per cent, due in large part to tight money.

The year most are showing profits from securities where last year they were reporting losses because of tight money.

Net operating earnings are what a bank makes on its interest from loans and interest from securities after deducting what it pays out in interest on deposits and in the labor and other costs of serving the depositors and borrowers, and after paying income taxes.

The slowdown in the rise of operating earnings — and in some cases a decline — reflects the Federal Reserve Board's easy money policy this year as a recession remedy. This is because the greater supply of money has led to a softening of interest that banks charge borrowers.

Coupled with this has been the decline in the demand of businessmen for loans. They have required less bank help in carrying inventories, which they were paying, or in financing new plants and equipment.

Banks costs have stayed high. Labor charges are as high as ever. And in the era of tight money the banks raised the interest rates they'd pay depositors because they needed more funds to lend. They talk about cutting these deposit and savings interest rates now, but in most cases are still paying them.

Reversal Play Nets Thirteen

North's two club opening was an artificial forcing bid. His rebid to two no-trump showed that he held a strong opening two no-trump. His five club bid was a Blackwood response showing all four aces and his six diamond bid showed one king.

Alan Jacobson of Armadillo who sat South knew that his seven spade bid was slightly optimistic, but he felt sure that there would be a play for 13 tricks.

He won the opening heart lead in dummy and counted 12 top tricks plus a possible thirteenth in clubs. A dummy reversal play seemed indicated provided the trumps would break. Alan cashed dummy's ace of spades and when both opponents followed he ruffed a heart in his own hand. A trump lead back to dummy's jack showed that the suit would break and Alan ruffed a second heart.

He returned to dummy with the ace of clubs and ruffed the last heart with his last trump. Back to dummy once more for a diamond and he led dummy's

Cases Are Heard In County Court

Vincent Perilli, indicted for failure to support his family in accordance with an order of the court, appeared before County Judge Louis G. Bruhn Monday having been picked up in New Jersey on a bench warrant. Perilli had been directed to pay $42 a week for the support of his wife and family by a court in the Second Judicial District of New York and was admitted to bail. He failed to report to Judge Bruhn when his case was moved for trial and his counsel, a New York attorney, withdrew from the case.

Picked up in New Jersey on a bench warrant Perilli told Judge Bruhn he had paid for the support of his wife and 10-year-old boy so long as he was employed. He had lost his job. He reported he now had a job as a milkman and would resume payments. On condition he consent to an order of the Ulster County Children's Court directing him to pay the $42 weekly, Judge Bruhn released him from custody. Perilli said he would meet the payments.

In the case of Ronald Joseph Demskie, 18, who had been charged by the grand jury with grand larceny, he was adjudged eligible to be treated under the Youthful Offender statute, the indictment was sealed and his case will be heard at chambers. Matthew Weishaupt, Jr., appeared by assignment.

In the case of Lester Chester Jansen, 19, 245 Broadway, indicted for burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry alleged to have been committed on December 5 for entrance to the Constantino and Connor premises, Judge Bruhn put the case over until Thursday at 1:45 p. m. when District Attorney Howard C. St. John informed the court Jansen was to appear at a hearing before the ABC board at Albany. Jansen had previously entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry.

Court was recessed until Thursday at 1:45 p. m.

Death Ends 'Holiday'

WOLCOTT, Vt. (AP) — Philip Badger, an elderly Fairfax man, was killed in a head-on, two-car collision here Monday night less than 24 hours after Vermont completed a death-free fourth of July holiday weekend.

Five others, including Badger's wife, Jennie, were injured in the accident. Authorities at a Morrisville hospital said none is in critical conditions.

The mishap, which boosted Vermont's 1958 highway death toll to 28, occurred on Route 15 about three and a half miles from the Wolcott-Morrisville line.

Police said Badger's exact age was not determined but they estimated he was about 73.

Dies of Injuries

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Norman Sowl, 31, of Orleans County, died here today of injuries suffered Monday in a five foot fall through a greenhouse roof.

Sowl suffered body lacerations when he fell while replacing glass in the roof in the suburban Town of Webster. He was taken to Northside hospital here and died at 2:25 a. m.

Adoption Laws Are To Be Scrutinized Closely at Hearing

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — New York State's adoption laws come under close scrutiny today at a public hearing.

State Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney was to be the leadoff witness.

Mahoney's testimony opens a two-day hearing by the joint Legislative Committee on Matrimonial and Family Laws. He previously has said he favors a change in the present laws.

Mrs. Janet Hill Gordon, committee chairman, said the group hoped to hear proposals that will improve the law.

The hearing, the first in a series, is an outgrowth of public concern over the death last May of seven-year-old Sheila Dooling of malnutrition. Her nine-year-old sister, Helen, was discovered bruised and emaciated.

The children's natural mother, her husband and the man and woman who adopted the little girls await trial on manslaughter charges.

About 50 persons from western New York, including legislators, judges, doctors, lawyers, clergymen, nurses and social workers were scheduled to testify.

NEW YORK (AP)—If you have a good three-act play collecting dust in your trunk, now is the time to take it out and storm Broadway.

But it has to be good. "The theater today is wide open," said Audrey Wood, one of the nation's top theatrical agents. "There's a tremendous need for new talent. If you have any kind of talent at all, it sticks out—it cries out to be helped."

Miss Wood, who looks like a perky, blue-eyed, auburn-haired visiting schoolteacher, is little known to the playgoing public. But she is a real power in the theater. She has helped put between 80 and 100 plays on the boards here, including some of the most famous of the last generation.

For 17 years Miss Wood and her husband, Bill Liebman, ran their own theatrical talent agency. Four years ago they sold out to the Music Corp. of America, which promptly found out it needed Miss Wood to handle the talent it had acquired.

Still Gets $1,000 a Week

Broadway gossip is that MCA paid half a million dollars for the Liebman agency, and still pays Miss Wood about $1,000 a week for her services.

She represents such playwrights as Tennessee Williams, William Inge, Robert Anderson, Carson

McCullers, Kanin, and Dorothy and Dubose Hayward. Among other theater celebrities she serves as agent are Shirley Booth, Leslie Caron, Siobhan Kenna, Michael Redgrave and Ben Gazzara.

Miss Wood said that the chief art of her job consists in getting "the right play to the right producers at the right moment."

Writer Must Listen

"Very often a writer doesn't come in with a play. He comes in with two-thirds of a play. You have to have valid critical ability, and he has to be willing to listen to your suggestions," she says.

"If an established playwright comes to me, I still have to tell him, 'I've got to be able to talk to you as if you were just a new boy from Dubuque.'"

Miss Wood has been notably successful in creating personal loyalty to her among some of the world's most temperamental types.

"The ideal way to handle a writer is to be there when he needs you—and not be there when he doesn't need you," she said.

One of the great needs of the theater today, she believes, is some way to endow talented young playwrights—to keep them afloat during the struggling period when they are mastering their craft.

"A real writer isn't ruined by help," she said firmly. "In all my years in the theater I've never seen any young writer given that much money."

YOUR POCKETBOOK

By All Means Have a Will,
But Let a Lawyer Write It

By FAYE HENLE

Yes, you can write a will and have it legally recognized without a lawyer.

All that is required is that you set forth in writing—titled your document "Last Will and Testament"—exactly to whom and how you wish your worldly possessions distributed. You must sign this document before witnesses who must attest to the soundness of your mind. Each witness must see the other sign.

This is an answer to a query. It should in no way be construed as advice.

Everyone should have a will. You should have a lawyer help you draw it up. You would hardly be inclined to remove your own appendix. Why should you draw up a will without benefit of legal advice?

Without a will, upon your death the law takes over. The result may be the opposite of your wishes. You may fail, for example, to get tax benefits helpful to your estate. Your heirs could suffer heavy losses from forced sales of real estate or a business.

In contrast, you'd be surprised how little a competent lawyer will charge for drawing up a will.

Exactly how the law will dispose of your property, if you leave no will, varies in different states. Generally, where a man is survived by a widow and children, one-third of his property will be given his wife and two-thirds will go to his children. If the one-third is not sufficient to care for his widow, nothing can be done about it.

The existence of minor children, the ownership of real estate, all present countless problems if there is no will. So does the ownership of a business.

You must consider all of these factors as you draw your will. The best plan is to jot down your intentions before seeing your lawyer.

Your lawyer can, for instance, tell you that if you name a beneficiary for your insurance, in some states, it may go tax-free to that beneficiary.

He may warn you against leaving lump sum legacies since this could place a hardship on those nearest you should your estate shrink between the time you write your will and you die.

He will instruct you to be specific, avoid ambiguous language that could be difficult to interpret.

One of the things your lawyer will ask you to do is to appoint an executor. This person—and it should be someone in whom you have great trust—will earn a fee by helping settle your affairs.

It is perfectly justifiable for you to choose your wife or grown children and to educate them to fulfill this task. You might name a professional executor such as a bank whose experience in estate matters is vast.

Unless you appoint an executor the court will. Usually the person the court chooses will have to be bonded. The cost of this bonding will come out of the estate.

Fire Aide Suspended, Fails to Report Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard F. Healey, a fire department battalion chief since last Saturday, was suspended Monday for failing to report a fight between two firemen in a Queens firehouse.

Healey, 45, was off duty at the time of the fight. He had gone to the firehouse in the Elmhurst section to pick up equipment. He was said to have seen the fight as he left.

Four other firemen have been suspended by Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. as a result of the fight.

A departmental trial for all five will begin Friday before Cavanagh. A finding of guilty could mean fines of from 1 to 30 days' pay or dismissal from the department.

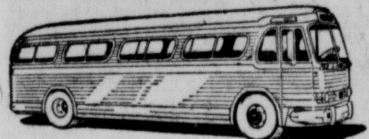

Bishop Kardas Dies

PATTERSON, N. J. (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Joseph E. Kardas, 59, bishop of Chicago of the National Polish Catholic Church, died Monday at a hospital here.

Bishop Kardas entered the hospital about 20 days ago after an automobile accident in Toronto, Canada. He was ill with pneumonia in Canada. He was stricken with a heart attack shortly before his death.

The bishop, a native of Poland, served parishes in Binghamton, N. Y., Dupont, Pa., and in Passaic before taking over as pastor of All Saints Church in Chicago. He will be buried in Chicago.

SAUGERTIES NEWS West Camp Pastor Writes Of British Guiana Vacation

Adventures of a vacation trip up the Berbice River in British Guiana by a West Camp minister and his wife were related in a letter from them read to his congregation at the Sunday morning worship of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The airmail letter dated June 16 from the Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor of the church, and Mrs. Messersmith, was read by Dr. Millar Ritchie, president of Hartwick College, Oneonta, who served as supply preacher for the last Sunday of the pastor's vacation.

Dated Buxton, B. G.
The letter detailed Buxton, British Guiana follows:
"We came out here—10 miles from Georgetown, the capital—last night for an anniversary service at the church where I preached.

There were perhaps 50 people there in a simple wooden frame church, small and rather bare, but very clean and with a nice altar in true Lutheran style. The people all participate well in the service. We used vesper; and in the morning, matins. It was a real thrill to worship with them. During the service, I was presented with a garland.

"After the 9 a. m. service in Calvary Church, Georgetown, at which I also preached, we stayed for Sunday school. I especially enjoyed the class of nursery and beginners as they love to sing and know so many songs. Some we know, but others are not so familiar like, 'This Little Light of Mine.' 'Jesus Loves Me' really rang out.

Everyone Friendly
"Everyone is very friendly and hospitable. They speak English, but with an accent that makes it a little hard for us to understand at times. Most of the people here are either Negro or East Indian; then there is a mixture of many nationalities.

"We are being shown around so well that almost every hour and minute is planned for us. We are seeing some of the rural churches today, and will be attending a service in one tonight and tomorrow night; also the dedication of an addition to one of our schools in Georgetown tomorrow afternoon. The work is spreading, and the opportunities are great. All that is needed is more workers and money.

"Monday evening I preached in a rural church on a sugar plantation. A pretty little East Indian girl presented me with a garland made from flowers called 'franjapannie.' The garland was very pretty and fragrant. After church, we were taken back to the missionaries we were staying with in Georgetown.

Visit Shopping Area
"Tuesday morning we went to the post office to buy some stamps and cards in a local store. Most of the stores are not very nice, as we were told. However, a million dollar fire in 1953 destroyed many of the old stores downtown so there are a few modern ones now. We also visited a market which is nothing like those in the states. There are some booths which are very crowded but most of the people just sit on the floor with their wares spread out before them.

"If you saw the meat markets here, you would not eat a piece of meat. Fortunately there are a couple of better stores at which our missionaries trade. Tuesday afternoon we participated in the dedication service of the new addition to Redeemer Lutheran School in Georgetown. The school was built on stilts as are the houses here. The bottom part has been enclosed now and individual classrooms were built. This is an innovation as most of the schools are one big room with several classes taught at one time. In the evening we had dinner at the home of an Indian who was at Wagner College when Mrs. Messersmith and I were there.

"Wednesday morning we left Georgetown for New Amsterdam. It is a distance of only 70 miles but it takes three hours on what is called a train here. After dinner we were taken by car to Skeldon. This is a distance of 40 miles, but because of the very poor roads, it takes an hour and a half by car. Skeldon is the location of the high school run by the Lutheran Church.

Subsidized Schools
"There are only two government run high schools in British Guiana, but 12 more are run by various church groups. The young people attend five years and pay tuition. The Lutheran Church charges only $46 per semester, the lowest in the colony. The West Camp congregation helped build the school with Luther League offerings about 1946, and the Epiphany appeal about 1953. It is a beautiful school and the finest in the colony. The church builds and maintains the schools, the government pays the teachers.

"Saturday, June 21, we leave on the church's launch, 'Swan II' for a four day trip on the Berbice River. It isn't a yacht, but a very satisfactory boat on which four can sleep. The two women on the tour sleep below deck, your pastor and the other minister and the missionary taking us, sleep on top of the deck. A captain and boathand run the launch. We leave with the tide at 2 a. m.

Visit Indian Villages
"By the time we wake up in the morning, we will be at the first village. The launch goes about 13 miles per hour at most times and only 10 MPH against the tide. We will visit several Indian villages and all eight of our Lutheran Churches. Sunday, June 22, your pastor will preach at two churches and the other minister at two others.

"We are planning to spend a week in Puerto Rico and visit churches there, and will have more to tell when we get home."

Community Chest Head to Address Youth Council

John R. Warren, director of Kingston Area Community Chest, will outline the Red Feather program to members of Saugerties Youth Council

Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the home of the council's chairman, Albert J. Cawein at Woodland Acres, Elms Mount.

Representatives of Saugerties District, Boy Scouts and Saugerties Council, Camp Fire Girls will be invited to hear the informal talk. Both organizations by the nature of their activities would be eligible for funds from a Red Feather organization if one were organized in the Town of Saugerties.

Arrangements for the community block party and dance rescheduled for Saturday at 8:30 p. m. at the tennis courts of Cantine Memorial Field, Washington Avenue Extension will be reported by Mrs. Marita Stay, dance chairman. The dance was postponed from last Saturday due to rain.

Legionnaires Bazaar Opens on Thursday

The annual Saugerties Legion three-day bazaar Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Legion Post Home grounds, John Street will open each day at 7 p. m.

The summer event is sponsored annually by Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion of Saugerties.

Five valuable and useful gifts now displayed at Thornton's store, Partition Street, will be awarded during the bazaar. One award will be made Thursday and Friday, and two on Saturday. A special award will be made during the Saugerties Appreciation Day event Friday at 8:30 p. m.

The bazaar will feature 10 entertainment and display booths and a ride for the kiddies. Members of the Auxiliary will participate. Clyde Miller is general chairman.

District Scouters Set Picnic at Tri-Mount

A picnic meeting Thursday at Camp Tri-Mount will replace the regular July meeting and round-table of Saugerties District, Boy Scouters.

The entire family is welcome to attend any time after 5 p. m. Those attending must bring their own food for a picnic supper.

The camp staff will be on hand to supervise activities in archery, mo-skeet, boating, nature study and handicraft. A tour of the camp will also be included.

Town Notes

Visitors at the Kinderhook Lake cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Potts of Cementon Sunday afternoon and evening were: Mr. and Mrs. John J. Prendergast of West Camp; Mr. and Mrs. William Kulencavich, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kulencavich and daughters, Karen and Susan, all of Cementon. Mrs. Potts is the organist at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp. They call their cottage in Columbia County, "Little by Little."

Mr. and Mrs. James Wynne of Bennett Avenue, Saugerties visited recently with Mrs. Anna Winchell of Malden-on-Hudson. Also visited Mrs. Winchell recently were Mrs. Mina Snyder and daughter, Mrs. Helen Otto of Poughkeepsie; Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Steen and son, Clifford of Richmond Hill, L. I.

Brasilia, the new capital city of Brazil, will be built at an altitude of 3,500 feet and the city's outline will resemble the shape of a huge airplane.

There are no ugly women; there are only women who do not know how to look pretty.

What Is Burgoo?

In some parts of the South, particularly Kentucky a burgoo picnic or feast often takes the place of the open-air party commonly known elsewhere in the United States as a barbecue. A rich savory soup or stew is made by boiling all sorts of meats and vegetables in a large outdoor kettle, seasoning the mixture with strong pepper and whisky and serving it very hot. The soup is called burgoo and the occasion a burgoo picnic. It is said that this concoction was originated and introduced into Kentucky by a Frenchman named Gus Jaubert, who was a cook in the Confederate forces of General John Hunt Morgan and who first made a burgoo for an encampment of Federal prisoners at Lexington in the fall of 1863. According to tradition, the secret of making Kentucky burgoo was handed down from Jaubert to James Looney, who became known as "the Burgoo King."

Arizona Ike—What happened to that tenderfoot who was out here last week?

Badger Pete—Oh, he was brushin' his teeth with some of that new-fangled tooth paste and one of the boys thought he had hydrophobia and shot him!

The woman in us still prosecutes a deceit like that begun in the garden; and our understandings are wedded to an Eve as

William had just returned from college, resplendent in loud-checked trousers, silk hosiery, a fancy waistcoat, a necktie that spoke for itself. He entered the library where his father was reading. He looked up and surveyed his son. The longer he looked the more disgusted he became.

Dad—Son, you look like a silly fool.

Later the old major who lived next door came in, and greeted the boy heartily.

Old Major (with undisguised admiration)—William, you look exactly as your father did twenty-five years ago, when he came back from school.

Son (with a smile)—Yes, so father was just telling me.

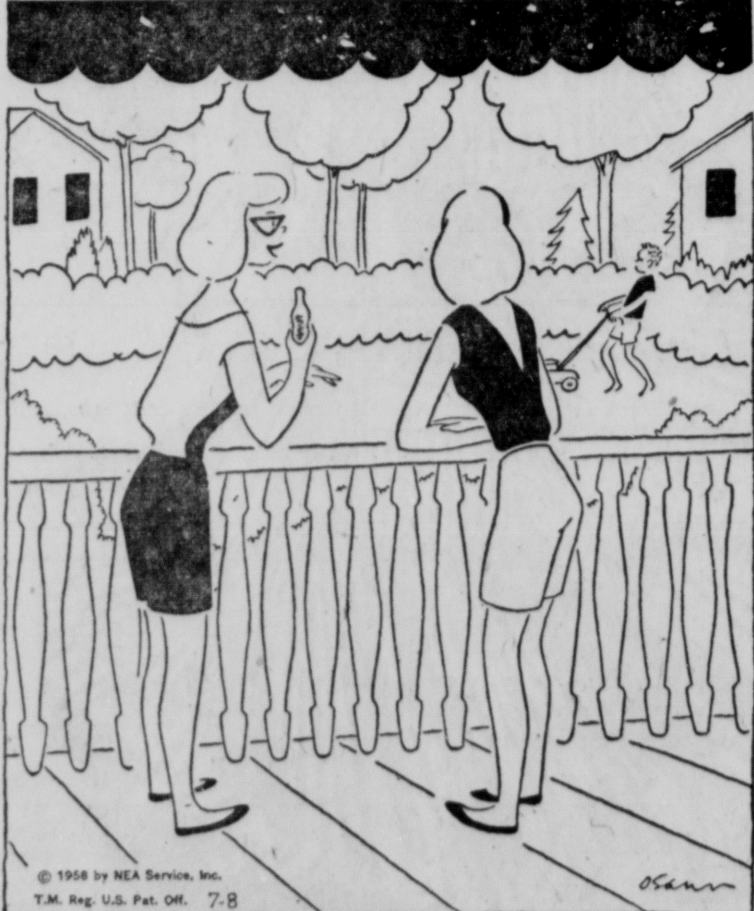

This 'N' That

Some years ago, the summer weekend was just ideal to take a spin. But now it has become a "bleak-end" of traffic snarls and sirens' din. Then wife and kiddies, aunts and nieces, could all enjoy a peaceful ride. Now they might be brought back in pieces, or minus section of their hide. Joking aside—there's danger lurking along the superhighway trails. And sudden death is overworking the presses with its grisly tales. Oh, there are plenty folks now planted who still would be as right as rain if they had used the sense God granted and stayed within the proper lane. So please, when you go weekend driving, be careful with your precious freight. Keep family, friends, and self—surviving. Don't try to crash the pearly gate.—Karl Flaster.

Guardsmen Join Hunt for Girl In Adirondacks

MALONE, N. Y. (AP)—Searchers set out for the third day today to find a pet 5-year-old girl dressed in blue who wandered from her parents' camp into thick Adirondack woods.

National Guard helicopters, other light planes and a small ground army scoured rugged terrain 20 miles south of here in hopes of locating brown-haired and blue-eyed Brenda Jean Doud.

An all-night rain continued at dawn.

The little girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doud of Massena, disappeared from Eagle Pond Sunday while her parents were at work on the camp they are building. The Douds said she was wearing a blue blouse and blue shorts.

About 150 Army men from Camp Drum and 85 men from Malone's National Guard unit were to join the search today.

So were more bloodhounds, being brought from the State Police barracks at Hawthorne to this northern New York sector.

Six aircraft, including two helicopters, and 200 volunteers covered a 15-mile-square area of woods and swamps Monday. State troopers from Malone, using bloodhounds, led the search.

Darkness halted their efforts. A few veteran woodsmen remained in the area overnight.

The Massachusetts National Guard, now in training at Camp Drum, dispatched the two helicopters and a light plane.

Prints Are Giveaway

DETROIT (AP) — Patrolman Glenn Apers spent three hours Monday studying the shoes of passing boys in the neighborhood of Parke School.

Apers finally found his boy. The youth was leaving multicolored footprints. He had walked in water color paints scattered in the school yard by vandals who did $200 damage.

The boy with the unusual shoe prints was one of the vandals. Apers turned him and his companions over to juvenile officers.

New Play Area Idea

CLEVELAND (AP) — Here's a fun playground where children can live it up:

No swings, gym bars or sand boxes. Instead, it will have a 16-foot sewer pipe, a section of railroad track, a flower garden without an off-limits sign, a play street with traffic signals.

Plans for the experimental playground to be built in suburban Lyndhurst Park by a Kiwanis Club, were presented Monday night to Lyndhurst City Council, which granted permission to use a 150-foot-square area in the park.

Work will begin in the fall and be completed by next summer.

Forged Stolen Air Tickets to Buy Narcotics

NEW YORK (AP)—An Upstate bartender is accused of forging and cashing more than $1,200 worth of stolen airline tickets and personal checks to support a narcotics addiction.

The bartender, Edward W. Newfield, 31, gave his address as 263 Washington, St., Geneva, when he was arrested Monday in his hotel room.

Police said Newfield admitted stealing a Delta Airlines rate book, 13 blank tickets and a validating machine from a Delta ticket office here last Wednesday.

Police said he was found with a syringe and needle and a quantity of heroin.

He was arrested after a hotel employee noticed the airlines rate book in Newfield's room and became suspicious.

Police said Newfield told them he climbed over the counter of the closed ticket office and broke into a cabinet containing the tickets. He was booked on charges of grand larceny, forgery, petty larceny and possession of narcotics.

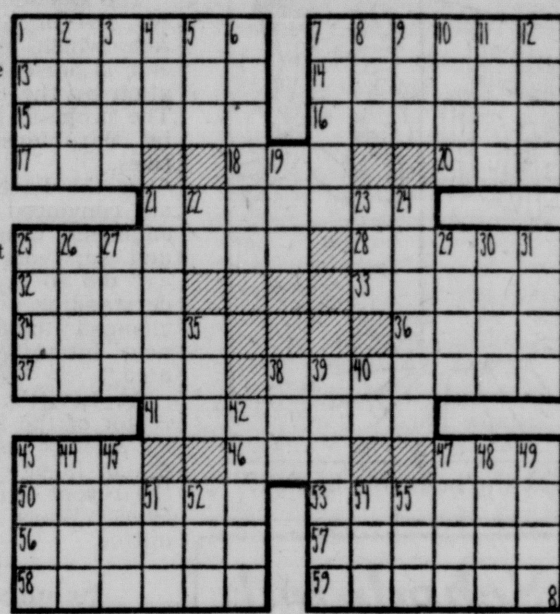

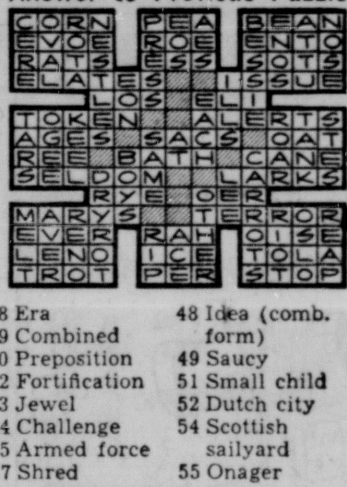

Hit by Car, Dies

MOIRA, N. Y. (AP) — Paul B. Ashley, 17, of Bruchston, was killed Monday night when an automobile struck him as he stood beside a disabled car about two miles west of this northern New York village.

TOKYO (AP)—A U. S. Air Force C47 crashed and burned in a field today two minutes after taking off from Tachikawa Air Base. Two of the three men aboard were killed, the other critically injured.

Those killed were Lt. James E. Hooten, 29, North Little Rock, Ar., the pilot, and Lt. Clifford J. Bueschel, Chicago, the co-pilot.

The name of the injured man, the navigator, was withheld.

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived on a visit to East Berlin today and called for a harder fight against plans of West Germany to equip its army with nuclear and rocket weapons.

Khrushchev heads a six-man delegation from Moscow to the East German Communist Party Congress. It opens Thursday and continues to July 16.

He received a cool welcome. East German officials, and organized delegations were on hand to cheer. But there was only scattered handclapping from others in the crowd.

During his stay here he is expected to give the East Germany party bosses the latest Kremlin line.

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II came down with sinus trouble accompanied by fever Monday night. The Queen, 32, has had a series of severe colds in recent months.

WARSAW (AP) — Floods following torrential rains have drowned seven persons and halted production in 16 industrial plants in western and southwestern Poland.

TORREON, Mexico (AP)—Five Mexicans were killed Monday by the explosion of a tank of anhydrous ammonia as it was being unloaded at a ranch 40 miles northwest of Torreon for use as fertilizer. Thirty persons who breathed the fumes were hospitalized. Three were in serious condition.

PULA, Yugoslavia (AP)—Greek Foreign Minister Evangelos Averoff flew in today for four days of talks with the Yugoslav and United Arab Republic foreign ministers.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Two British soldiers were shot to death in the east Cyprus port of Famagusta today.

There was speculation the shooting was in retaliation for the death of two Greek Cypriots killed by British troops who fired into a crowd of demonstrators at Aygrou Saturday.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — An incendiary bomb wrecked Beirut's leading 5 and 10 cent store today, killing or wounding at least 30 persons.

The store was crowded when the bomb went off at 10 a. m. in a soft drink delivery truck parked in front of the building.

It was the worst act of terrorism in Beirut since a bomb exploded in a crowded streetcar May 26, killing 6 and wounding 20 persons. The bombings are the work of extremists among the Lebanese rebels trying to enforce a general strike called in an effort to paralyze the government.

The explosion occurred after several days of relative quiet in downtown Beirut.

First Attempt

First attempted assassination of a U. S. president was on Jan. 30, 1835, when Richard Lawrence snapped two pistols at President Andrew Jackson, but the weapons missed fire.

The active Navy Fleet of Turkey today consists of 8 destroyers, 8 escort vessels, 7 submarines, 7 minelayers, 2 minesweepers, 4 tankers, 2 tender ships and many auxiliary craft. U. S. military aid has improved their armament.

When Oldster Defends Going Steady, You Have to Listen

When you get a letter from a teen-ager defending "going steady," that's not news.

But here's a defense of steady dating that come from a grandmother.

She writes: "I believe that if today's parents really understood why their teen-agers want to 'go steady' there wouldn't be all this opposition to the idea."

"These young people are searching for security and steadiness. If they find it in going steady, what is so terrible about that?"

"Isn't it just possible that they will carry this need for security into their marriages and so make better husbands and wives than many of their parents' generation?"

"Besides aren't parents actually trying to keep their children from growing up when they tell them they ought to 'play the field' instead of dating just one person?"

"Not too far back in our country's past a teen-ager was considered an adult, capable of making decisions and starting to live his own life."

"Now parents want to keep their children dependent as long as possible—so they keep telling them how much fun they could be having while they are young if they wouldn't let themselves get serious about any one member of the opposite sex."

"Yet, it seems to me, that the young person who has the most difficult time settling down to marriage is the one who has been the local belle or the young man who has given all the girls a rush. Marriage too often seems dull and confining to those who have had a big whirl before settling down."

Those of course are the very arguments the teenagers use in defense of steady dating. Funny how much more convincing they sound when coming from a grandmother! (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Police Halt Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — Police broke up a fight Monday night between two men, one armed with a knife, his opponent with a bow and arrows.

Sgt. Victor Carlson and Policeman John Curtin said the trouble started when Charles Bateo, 37, arrived to visit his former wife Dorothy, 34, at the home of Elden Carlson 27. Carlson and Bateo, police said, started arguing and Bateo drew a knife.

Carlson got his bow and three steel-tipped arrows. As Bateo started to drive away from Carlson's North Side home, Carlson hit Bateo's car with one arrow. At that time, Sgt. Carlson and Curtin drove up and took both men in. They were held for further questioning.

Meat in Aspic Is Cool, Main Course Summer Dish

REFRESHING as a summer breeze is this jellied veal loaf, served with caper sauce. It's perfect as a light evening meal.

Losing Land

The United States is losing its northernmost real estate at the rate of seven feet a year. The land is at the shoreline of Point Barrow, Alaska, and is being swept away by ocean currents and wind tides acting on low-lying land.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor
Meat—either specially cooked or left over—is the base for main course summertime aspic dishes. They can be made in the cooler earlier hours of the day, then served without worry for the summer night dinner.

We particularly like this veal loaf recipe.

Jellied Veal Loaf (8 servings)

One 3-pound boned veal rump, 4 cups water, 1 onion, sliced, 1 celery stalk and leaves, 2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate, 1 tablespoon salt, 1½ teaspoon dried basil, 3 bay leaves, ¼ teaspoon peppercorns, 1 tablespoon mixed pickling spice, 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin, 3 tablespoons finely chopped parsley.

Put veal in saucepan with tight-fitting cover. Add water, onion, celery, monosodium glutamate, salt, basil, bay leaves, peppercorns and pickling spice. Cover; bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer 2 hours. Remove veal; chill. Strain broth; chill; skim off solidified fat. Reserve 1 cup broth. Measure remaining broth. Boil to reduce to 3 cups, if necessary. Soften gelatin in reserved cold broth. Add to the hot broth; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. While mixture is chilling, cut veal into julienne strips. Fold veal and chopped parsley into chilled gelatin mixture. Turn into 9x4x2½-inch loaf pan. Chill until firm. Serve with Caper Sauce.

Caper Sauce

One bottle (2½ ounces) capers, 1 cup mayonnaise, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon Tabasco.

Drain liquid from capers into mayonnaise. Add lemon juice and Tabasco; stir until smooth. Add capers; serve with jellied veal loaf.

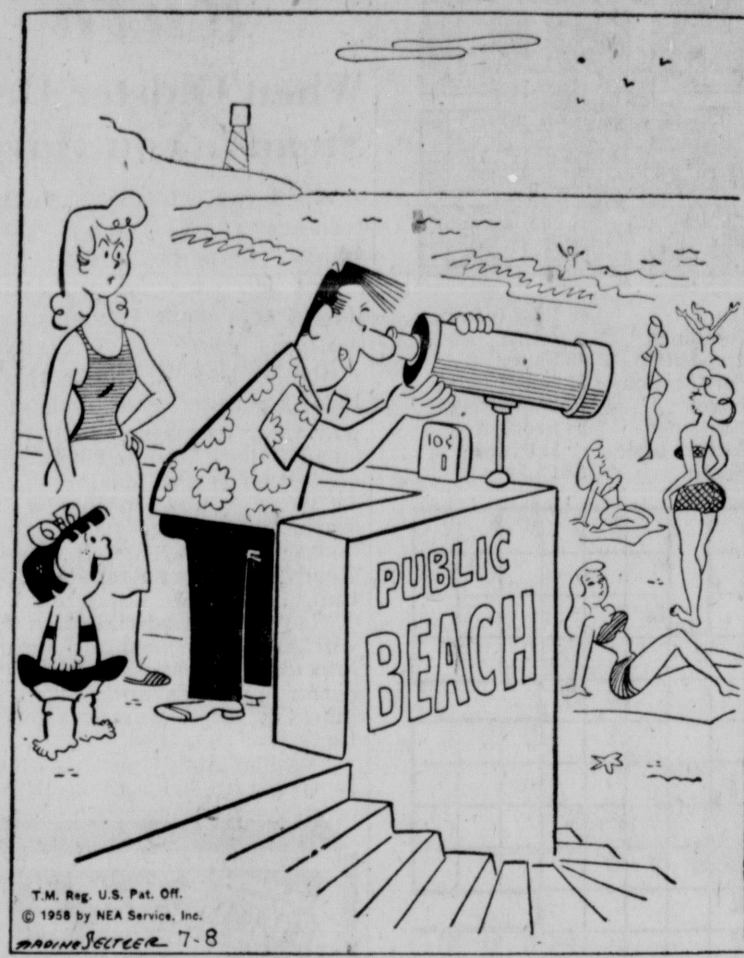

Tea

To a glass of cold tap water add a rounded teaspoon of instant powdered tea product and stir. Add ice, sugar and lemon to taste.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Hot clear beef bouillon, jellied veal loaf with caper sauce, potato salad, sliced tomatoes, stuffed celery, sliced cucumbers, heated garlic French bread, chilled melon, coffee, tea, milk.

Urges Legislation To Open SS Act For State Workers

ALBANY—Passage of federal legislation to provide members of the New York State Employees' Retirement System who rejected Social Security another opportunity to accept such coverage is being urged State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

The comptroller's position was made known today by the publication of a letter to Senator Harry Byrd, chairman of the U. S. Senate Finance Committee.

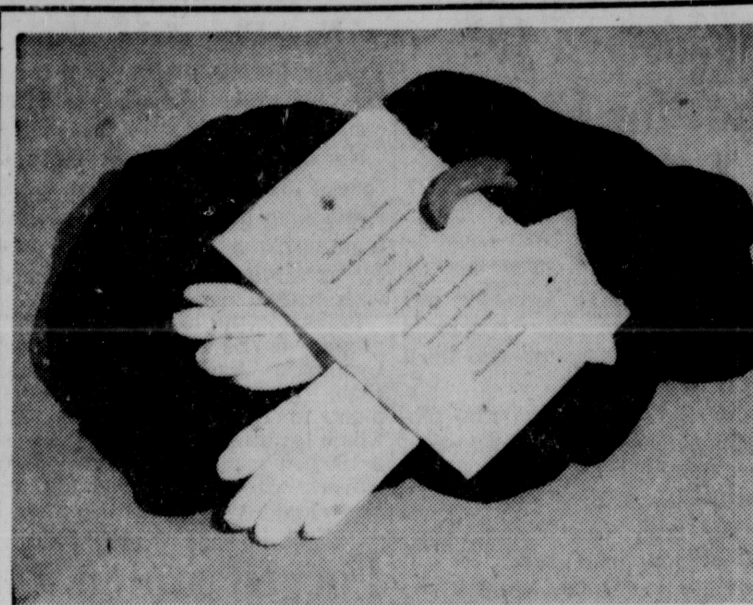

The amendment to Section 218 (d) (6) of the Social Security Act, which would achieve this end, is presently under consideration by the Senate Committee. The proposal has been approved by the House of Representatives.

In the letter, Levitt said: "I am convinced that many public employees who rejected old-age and survivors insurance coverage did so because of a misunderstanding, or have since changed their minds, and are now interested in being covered."

At Levitt's direction the Director of the State Social Security Agency testified in Washington in favor of this proposal at the recent hearings held by the House Ways and Means Committee.

LAVENDER FLU

Your grandfather probably knew this cure. Flowers of lavender quilted in a hat were supposed to ward off "stuffed-up" noses and head colds. Pleasant treatment—but certainly not a sure cure. Today, thanks to medical science, we have numerous effective vaccines . . . against flu, whooping cough and other respiratory diseases . . . to immunize and protect us from the discomforts of infections. So, why suffer needlessly. Ask your physician about them. Let him prescribe the medication that is most effective for your needs. Then come to us for prescription service.

Elfrida Ousted From '21' Quiz

NEW YORK (AP)—Elfrida von Nardoff lost $33,000 and one of her two titles Monday night.

The Brooklyn quiz whiz finally was ousted from NBC-TV's Twenty-One after 21 appearances. Robert Leicester, an assistant director of a private high school in New York, beat her 21-10. They were playing for $3,000 a point difference in their scores.

Thus, Leicester's 11-point margin of victory gave him $33,000 and the same amount was subtracted from Miss von Nardoff's previous winnings of $235,500, leaving her with $220,500.

Single TV Champ

The Brooklyn woman remains the record money winner for a single TV quiz show. Her loss to Leicester drops her total winnings below the $224,000 won by Robert Strom, an 11-year-old Bronx boy, on two different shows.

She missed the first question asked her Monday night. She correctly named the late Robert Jackson as prosecutor at the Nuernberg World War II war crimes trials and the late Martin Bormann as the Nazi leader tried in absentia at the trials.

But she hesitated between Hermann Goering and Paul Joseph Goebbels as the Nazi leader who cheated justice by committing suicide. Finally, she said Goebbels and was wrong.

Will Keep $50,000

Leicester answered two questions correctly to score 21 and Miss von Nardoff answered her second question correctly to score 10 points and limit her losses.

Miss von Nardoff, 32, quit her job as a personnel manager to concentrate on the show. After taxes she will keep about $50,000 of her winnings.

Supply of Teachers Fails to Meet Demand

ALBANY—Despite a record number of graduates from New York State colleges eligible for certification as teachers, the supply this year will not meet the actual demand of a statewide basis. Dr. James A. Allen Jr., state commissioner of education, announced here today.

Dr. Allen reported that statistics compiled by the State Education Department indicate that 11,010 persons were graduated eligible for state certificates as teachers in the elementary and secondary fields, but experience has shown that approximately 20 per cent will not enter teaching as a profession and nearly 10 per cent will accept positions in other states. The commissioner pointed out that if all the 11,010 persons were available for teaching assignments in New York State they still would not meet the demand for 13,340 new teachers in the state's public schools.

Improvement in the supply of high school teachers was noted in the Education Department report which shows that there were this year 6,360 graduates eligible for secondary school teaching certificates contrasted to 6,280 reported vacancies. However, for elementary school teachers the supply was reported as only 4,650 certifiable persons compared to the reported demand for 7,060 persons.

One factor in the state's effort to even supply with demand is the increasing number of graduates from the State University of New York teachers colleges. This June these teacher-training units reported 3,264 four-year graduates to help meet the need for elementary and high school teachers along with 907 master's degrees candidates in the field of education.

No Vaccine Ready to Aid Canadian-U. S. Relations

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just before Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip flew to Canada last Columbus Day, they were vaccinated against Asian flu, then raging in North America.

But President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, flying there today, have no such protection. There is no handy vaccine to dispel what ails Canada in its relations with the United States.

Sigmund Freud might have diagnosed it as an inferiority complex. But say that in Ottawa and you'll get a cross look, if not a right cross to the jaw. Ask almost any American and he's baffled, if he's thought about it at all. Chances are he takes Canada for granted.

Economic Complaints

Eisenhower and Dulles have thought about it a great deal, especially Dulles. It's mighty disconcerting for a secretary of state, wrestling with problems in not-so-friendly places far away, to have trouble erupt next door across the unpatrolled border in friendly Canada.

Dulles has had his share of this, mostly in the economic field. Canada has complained in recent years that the United States is hurting it by dumping surplus U. S. wheat on the world market, restricting Canadian oil imports, selling Canada more than it buys, and so on.

There is also the problem of security information. The Canadian Mounties have been supplying the FBI with security data on Canadian citizens for years. But Canada threatened to stop that last year after the Senate Internal Security subcommittee published a report naming one of her diplomats.

Fury Was Enormous

E. Herbert Norman, then Canada's ambassador to Egypt, committed suicide in Cairo after the committee said he had been active in Communist circles. Canada's indignant fury was enormous.

Eisenhower and Dulles are tackling all these problems with their Canadian counterparts at Ottawa. There is hope for progress, although the security issue is especially knotty since, under the U. S. Constitution, the executive branch can make no promises finding on the Congress.

The United States and Canada have been friendly so long that almost nobody remembers when they were enemies. American revolutionaries invaded Canada in 1775-76, took Montreal and besieged Quebec. Most Canadians are convinced Theodore Roosevelt bullied them into a disadvantageous settlement of the Alaska-Canada boundary in 1903. And some may be wondering today whether efforts might be made to acquire Canada's west coast for a land linkup with the 49th state.

It is not hard to argue for the theory of an inferiority complex.

Many U. S. Features

Canada's radio reeks with rock 'n' roll, Canada's television leans to I Love Lucy and similar U. S.

TRUCKERS' HERO—Reuben C. Thomas, 29, of Enterprise, Ala., was named national "Driver of the Year" by the American Trucking Associations. He risked his life to rescue an injured woman from a flaming automobile and was nearly electrocuted by high-voltage current from a downed power line lying across the burning car. A truck driver for the Sessions Company, Inc., Thomas has driven 585,000 miles without accident of any kind.

CAP Says Light Plane Is Overdue

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—The Civil Air Patrol reported today that an Army light plane was overdue on a flight from Camp Drum to Harrisburg, Pa.

A spokesman at Camp Drum would say only that a plane was unaccounted for.

There was no indication how many persons were aboard.

In Albany, the Civil Aeronautics Administration said the plane had left Camp Drum, in northern New York, at 6:57 p. m. (EDT) Monday. A spokesman said the flight to Harrisburg normally would take about 2½ hours. The plane carried a four-hour fuel supply, he said.

The CAA spokesman said thunderstorm activity was reported early Monday night along the route the plane would have taken. He said he did not know to what outfit the plane was assigned.

Unusual Survey

HARRISBURG (AP)—Are they happy in Lower Paxton Township? If so, why?

This is what residents of the township are being asked in a questionnaire circulated by the Board of Supervisors.

"I admit this type of survey is rather unusual," Robert R. Roebuck, chairman of the supervisors said. "But it will help in making future plans for the growing township."

made programs, the books and even the magazines come overwhelmingly from the United States. Canadians talk like U. S. residents—those that don't talk French, that is—even though they swear allegiance to Queen Elizabeth. Many may be satisfied with the situation but others would prefer that Canadians ache more of a national identity.

Japanese Women Turn to Modern Ways, Says Noted Magazine Editor From Japan

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
While Americans make a vogue of Japanese food, fashions and architecture, the modern Japanese girl prefers hamburgers, and wouldn't know how to get around in a kimono. So says Miss Shizuko Ohashi, editor of Japan's leading women's magazine Kurashi-No-Techō (which means "notebook for living").

"I have not worn a kimono in the last 10 years, except once, for a fancy dress ball," youthful Miss Ohashi said through an interpreter. "Older women still wear the kimono at home and in the evening, but most younger women work, and our rush hour in Tokyo is just as crowded as yours in New York. Can you imagine trying to ride the subway in a kimono?"

Miss Ohashi was dressed in a modish pink linen two-piece dress, cut on the latest chemise lines. She is in this country at the invitation of the U. S. State Department, under the educational exchange program, for a brief tour of American publishing plants and editorial offices.

She says the entire status of women has changed in Japan since they won the vote, shortly after World War II.

Most women in Japan make their own clothes, using western patterns, says Miss Ohashi. Few extreme styles are worn, the main goal of the home seamstresses being to turn out neat, practical garments suitable to their working lives.

Japan's great problem is its rapidly increasing population, she says, and for this reason modern Japanese women do not plan big families.

Miss Ohashi has been most impressed by the furnishings and appliances of American homes.

"There is no real furniture in the average Japanese home," she says. "We sleep on mats which are rolled up and put away in the daytime, so that one room can serve many purposes."

There is one more important change in the status of Japanese women, says this modern young editor:

"Before the war, parents arranged almost all marriages. Now we marry for love."

Gail Brozman - William Reilly Marriage Is Announced; Ceremony at Yonkers Church

St. Eugene's Church, Yonkers, was the setting Saturday, July 5 for the marriage of Miss Gail Helen Brozman to William Joseph Reilly. The Rev. Joseph McIntyre of Kingston performed the double ring ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial Mass.

Mrs. Reilly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brozman of Yonkers. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Reilly of Eddyville.

Mr. Brozman gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of silk peau de soie. Her tulle veil was fastened to a cap of seeded pearls and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Miss Sandra Brozman, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The other attendants were Miss Carol Ann Gladke, cousin of the bride, Miss Elizabeth O'Leary, both of Yonkers, Miss Barbara Crispo of Tarrytown and Miss Kathleen Garrity of Chappaqua.

L. Jay Oliva of Wappingers Falls served as best man for his cousin. The ushers were Thomas Seche, John Kelly Jr., Charles Scala, all of Kingston, and John Diffily of Chester.

Mrs. Reilly, an alumna of Roosevelt High School, Yonkers, received a BA degree from New York State College for Teachers at Albany in June. She was a member of Phi Delta Sorority.

Mr. Reilly, an alumnus of Kingston High School and Siena College, is a second lieutenant in the United States Army Reserve. He is office manager for the Miron Lumber Corporation in Newburgh.

After a wedding trip to Cape Cod, Mr. and Mrs. Reilly will make their home at Newburgh.

American Premiere of Italian Opera Will Be Given at Ellenville Festival; Limited Seats

The American premiere of "Murder in the Cathedral," an Italian opera by T. S. Elliott and Ilde Brando Prezzetti will be presented at Ellenville Music Festival on Thursday, August 14.

This culminates three months of negotiations between Frank Forest, executive director of the Festival, and the Messrs. Elliott and Prezzetti who finally consented to release the opera for performance here provided it is sung in the Italian setting.

Reported to be the most beautiful opera to be written in the last 30 years, the work will not be performed again this year anywhere else east of the Mississippi.

Second performance of the opera has been scheduled for Sunday, August 17 at the Festival.

"Murder in the Cathedral" was world premiered in La Scala, Milan, Italy.

Inasmuch as there will only be 1630 seats available for each performance, Harry Thayer, publicity chairman for the Festival, who made the announcement of the American premiere today, urges that early reservations be made.

The Ellenville Music Festival will also present "La Boheme" on Saturday, Aug. 16. A symphony concert has also been scheduled, details of which will be announced.

IN MEMORY OF THE DECEASED

Dear Mrs. Post: A business friend of mine died recently. His widow requested that no flowers be sent but that donations be sent to the Heart Association instead. I would like to send a check in his memory but am not sure to whom this should be sent. Should it be sent to the widow or direct to the Heart Association? If the latter is correct, how is the widow informed of this?

Answer: You make your check payable to the Heart Association and enclose with it the name of the deceased and the address of the bereaved family. You also send your name and address. A printed card is later sent out by the Heart Association stating that a donation has been received in memory of and the name of the donor. Another card is sent to you acknowledging receipt of the donation and stating that notification has been sent to the bereaved family.

Wedding Ring for Husband

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it permissible for a wife to buy her husband a wedding ring after five years of marriage? Our anniversary is next month and I can think of no other present I would rather give. If it is all right to give him this ring, will you please tell me what date I should have put in it, the date of our marriage or the present date?

Answer: If he himself would like to wear a wedding ring, by all means give it to him; otherwise another kind of ring would be more suitable at this late date. Your wedding date would be best if your gift is to be a wedding ring.

Place Cards

Dear Mrs. Post: Are place cards always handwritten, or may they in some instances be typewritten?

Answer: Place cards are always handwritten although the writing may approach printing as closely as possible in order to be legible.

Wedding invitations vary according to the type of wedding planned. Send for Mrs. Post's leaflet E-10, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Hyde Park Presents Good Interpretation Of Williams' Play Tennessee Williams' "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" received laudatory comments opening night at Hyde Park Playhouse. Taking the leading role was Patricia Sales who gave a very convincing performance.

A member of The Freeman editorial staff, who was in the audience, said that the cast was well chosen. He particularly singled out Anne Driscoll, who was very good in her supporting role.

Also appearing in the presentation, which will be on stage all this week, are Harvey Solin and Edwin Christie.

Also Leonard Hodera, Josephine Wajzner, Penny Lord, Raf Michaels, Susan Prager, Richard Leibman, Cheryl Leibman, Sydney Walker, Theodore C. Hons, Anne Bennett, Mary Severson and Jim Gormley.

The play is under the direction of Harry Mastrogeorge. Reese Sarda is the set designer.

On stage for the week of July 14-19 will be Kyle Crichton's "The Happiest Millionaire."

Attendees were Joan Slater and Alfred E. Shultis.

Registration Open For Craft Classes At Local YWCA

The YWCA is holding several creative, craft classes for teenagers during July. The classes will meet at 10 a. m. Monday, Wednesday, and Friday during the weeks of July 7-18.

A class in copper enamel jewelry will be taught by Mrs. William Yates and Mrs. Arthur Lewis. Girls enrolled in this class will have the opportunity of creating their own unusual jewelry.

Mrs. Walter Lewis will instruct a class in aluminum etching during the first week of classes. Etching will be done on trays of various shapes and sizes and also on jewelry items.

Instructors for both the copper enameling and aluminum etching are members of the Kraft and Koffee Club, a YWCA club which met throughout the winter to work on creative projects.

A third class, beginning on July 14, will have the opportunity of working in one of the oldest creative arts known to man—Mosaic tile, an ancient art once again coming into vogue. It will be demonstrated by Harold Henion of the Catskill Valley Hobby Shop, and taught by Miss Mary Van Dine. Members of the class will learn to decorate various items with the colorful bits of tile. The classes are open to any teen-age girls (7th-12th grade). Fees will be kept to a minimum and will depend on the cost of the objects on which the girls choose to work. Classes are now in session and registration is still open.

The YWCA will also be open in the afternoon and early evening during July for recreation. Badminton and croquet will be available and other activities will be planned as interest arises.

Annual Immaculate Conception Church Picnic Is Planned

At a meeting held recently in the school hall, the combined societies of the Immaculate Conception Church made plans and selected committees for the 22nd annual parish picnic.

The event will be held Sunday, July 20, on the school grounds, Delaware Avenue, rain or shine.

Elaborate plans are underway according to Frank Zakrzewski, general chairman, to assure all who attend a day of enjoyment.

The picnic will start at 3 p. m. and continue until 11 p. m. A buffet supper will be served from 4 p. m. Refreshments will also be available throughout the afternoon and evening. The event will feature several booths.

Tickets are now available at the rectory, 467 Delaware Avenue, or from any member of the committee. They will also be obtainable at the gate the day of the picnic.

The Rev. Joseph Siczek, pastor of the church, invites all of his parishioners and their friends to participate in this annual event as the entire proceeds will be used for the new school fund.

Committees include John Wojciechowski, co-chairman; refreshments, Bernard Bujak, chairman, Raymond Stepski, co-chairman; Admissions, Mrs. Pearl Reis, chairman, Miss Mary Grabiec, co-chairman; refreshment tickets, Mrs. Mary Wojciechowski; rebate tickets, Mrs. Martha Jordan and Mrs. Charles Cole; publicity, George Reis; ice cream, Mrs. Mary Klonowski; booths, the Misses Anne and Frances Lukaszewski; kitchen, Mrs. Anna McCullough, chairman and Mrs. Florence Melnik, co-chairman.

Also Mrs. Mary Berardi, George Schatzel, Vincent Sylvestre and Augustus Stopczynski, will serve on various committees.

Ike Leaves For Canada

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower set out today on a neighborhood visit to Canada. His plane took off for Ottawa at 9 a.m.

The President's three-day stay north of the border is aimed at smoothing out irritations which have been disturbing the traditional friendship between the two great North American nations.

Eisenhower was accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower and Secretary of State and Mrs. Dulles.

The party was due in the Canadian capital in about two hours. In conferences with Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, who invited him to make the trip, Eisenhower will explore economic and international issues.

The aim is closer understanding and some assurance that no insurmountable troubles divide the two nations.

There has been a growing resentment in Canada against the United States and its policies—a feeling that the neighbor to the south ignores Canadian problems or treats them in a casual, off-hand manner.

Resentment Growing
There have been some rumblings in the United States that Canada is shirking on providing manpower for Western defense. Many Canadians, for their part, complain that the United States is too much inclined to say "no" to the Soviet Union and to decline to negotiate with the Soviets.

Worried About Trade
Mainly, Canada is concerned about economic issues. It worries a bit about its trade deficit with the United States, heavy American investments dominating numerous Canadian industries, import limits on Canadian oil, U.S. sales of wheat abroad, the American boycott on trade with Red China, and the threat of higher tariffs on zinc and lead.

In the United States, the Northwest is disturbed over a possibility of Canadian diversion of Columbia River waters.

Eisenhower will stay three days in the Canadian capital, Secretary of State Dulles and his Canadian counterpart Sidney E. Smith will sit in on at least part of the talks. So will other officials.

Poor Contact Is Delaying Release Of 34 Captives

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP)—Poor communications are reported delaying release of North Americans still held captive by Fidel Castro's rebels. Thirty-three Americans and one Canadian are still held.

Rear Adm. R. B. Ellis, commander of the U.S. naval base on Guantanamo Bay, said he was told there had been no hitch in the release arrangements. But the men are scattered among rebel camps in the east Cuban mountains and jungles, and it is taking much time to collect them to be picked up at one point.

Ellis had been dispatching a helicopter to make the pickup when a Navy plane spots white cloth marker panels laid out in jungle clearings.

Lt. Cmdr. John V. Gorman of Grand Pass, Mo., ferried out three Americans Monday, bringing to 16 the number of men released. One of those flown out, James P. Stephens Jr. of Edmond, Okla., said, "there was no one else at the landing point when I left."

Antique Car Show At Saugerties Slated for Sunday

The Saugerties Antique Auto Club presents its first annual antique automobile show at Cantine Memorial Field, Washington Avenue Extension, Saugerties, Sunday at 1 p. m.

A large number of antique, classic and sports cars will be displayed at the event. The show will be held in cooperation with the Automobile Club of the Upper Hudson Valley, one of the largest auto clubs in the state.

Several attractive trophies and cups will be awarded to the owners of the outstanding cars of each of the different classes of antique and classic cars. If the turnout is sufficient, there will be competition for sports cars. Anyone who has a car that he would like to enter in this event should be at the field with his car by noon the day of the show. There will be no entry fee or charges of any kind. Admission is free and everyone is welcome. Refreshments will be available on the grounds.

First Negro on Board

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Clarence M. Maloney, an attorney, has become the first Negro on the city's Municipal Housing Authority.

His wife, Cora, established a precedent of her own last November when she was elected as the first woman to the City Council. Maloney, 64, was appointed Monday by Mayor Frank A. Sedita.

Not only reduces tissue swelling but stops pain at once, promotes healing of inflamed tissues too—all without surgery! Preparations that just act to "shrink" piles can't offer complete symptomatic relief. For real comfort, fast, you need this more complete medication. In doctors' tests, patients had immediate relief. That's because

Senate Committee Approves Flemming

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee today approved President Eisenhower's nomination of Arthur S. Flemming to be secretary of health, education and welfare.

Flemming, 53-year-old president of Ohio Wesleyan University, would succeed Marion Folsom in the Cabinet post. The White House announced May 7 that Folsom had submitted his resignation and expected to leave between July 15 and Aug. 1.

Flemming's nomination was approved by a voice vote of the committee.

533,000 New Jobless Marks 17-Year High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that employment rose to 64,981,000 and unemployment to 5,437,000 in June as a flood of job-hunting students hit the labor market.

The jobless rise of 533,000 from May sent the unemployed total to a peak for any month since before World War II—a 17-year high. Employment soared by 920,000 over May.

The data were reported in the regular monthly survey of the Commerce and Labor Department.

Probably the most important feature of the report was that manufacturing industries, worst hit by the recession, shared in the job rise for the first time after a year and a half of steady decline.

This, coupled with a sharp rise of six-tenths of an hour in the average factory work week, represented solid gains on the recession front.

A smaller factory work week increase had been registered in May. The May-June increase in hours, aggregating nearly an hour, is the largest two-month gain in a dozen years. The factory work week had risen to 39.2 hours in June, which is still eight-tenths of an hour off last year.

The increased work hours helped boost average weekly earnings of factory workers by $1.27 to $83.10 a week in June, a new record. Average hourly earnings remained steady at $2.12.

The report estimated that between 1½ and 2 million students and recent graduates entered the labor market at the close of the school term.

With employment climbing by some 900,000 and unemployment increasing by about 500,000, some half million women, mainly school teachers not under contract, left the labor force, presumably temporarily until schools reopen in the fall.

Tornado Shelter Is Made From Old Auto

FRONTENAC, Kan. (AP)—Machinist John Sinkovic has made a tornado shelter out of an old automobile.

He stripped off the wheels, bumpers, fenders, front seat, windshield and motor, and sank the body 30 inches deep in the ground.

Steps were rigged through the windshield opening and benches were placed inside. Rocks were raked up around the sides, the top was covered with dirt and seeded to grass.

Lattice-work conceals the front entrance from the street.

Hallanan Satisfactory

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Walter S. Hallanan, president of Plymouth Oil Co. and Republican national committeeman from West Virginia, was listed in satisfactory condition today in Shadyside Hospital here.

Attendants said Hallanan was resting comfortably. He was admitted to the hospital Sunday night for treatment of an undisclosed illness.

Hallanan lives in Charleston, W. Va., and has offices there and in Pittsburgh and New York.

To Telecast Birth

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Station WCHS-TV will telecast the birth of a baby by Caesarian section Monday night. The presentation, being made in cooperation with the Kanawha Medical Society, will originate in the operating room of Charleston Memorial Hospital.

6 Indians Get Polio

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—Six Blackfoot Indians have been stricken by polio during the past week, and Indian Health Service officials fearful of an epidemic ordered a mass vaccination campaign. Dr. Charles S. McCammon said plans are under way to inoculate some 4,000 of the Blackfoot reservation's 4,500 Indians.

Roberta Linn Home

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Roberta Linn, the singer who was Lawrence Welk's original "Champagne Lady," is home after a two-week hospital stay. Miss Linn, ill with a chest infection, was on the critical list for a time. A spokesman said she'll rest several weeks before resuming her career.

'The Entertainer' Opens Tonight at the Playhouse

John Kander, formerly music director on tour with Beatrice Lilly in "A Night With Beatrice Lilly" has adapted the music for the Woodstock Playhouse production of "The Entertainer," which opens tonight at 8:30 and runs through July 13.

The Woodstock Playhouse is the only theatre in the United States that is presenting this John Osborne drama with music. It was brought to the United States by Laurence Olivier.

The Playhouse also announced that Sheldon Haber has arrived to take over the designing of stage sets for the Playhouse.

Gerald E. McGonagill, whose talent was obvious in the part of Cooper in last week's smash hit "Cat On a Hot Tin Roof" will play the leading role.

The play is another brilliant opus by John Osborne, most famous of Britain's "angry young men." It has the unique quality of being a music and dance drama, entertaining as its title and yet truly moving. The story is built around the character of a vicious and colorful has-been actor, a song and dance man, a third rater always and now on the verge of complete discard.

Guild Exhibit Is Democracy In Art Display

The third exhibition of paintings in the new co-operative gallery of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen is a democratic display of the work of artist members of the Guild, a cross section of creative art. Those with large canvases shoved over to make way for the smaller works. Even two of our American neighbors in native costume are represented in the form of a life size painting of a Senorita from Mexico by Joe Cantine, and a child of Panama by E. Sturtevant Gardner. As a whole the exhibition is eclectic and interesting.

Many of the flower compositions have gone abstract or decorative as the paintings of Elfrida Borkman and Nance Summers. Yellow rock is the subject that appealed to Sunshine Trankler and "The Quarry," to Louise Rourke. "The Cat and the Bees" is the title given by Niel Jensen who has an individual interpretation of subject and art principle. A long composition "Blue and Mauve," by Kenneth Downer takes the memory sailing. Konrad Cramer combines real leaves with paper cutouts for an effective arrangement with depth. Abstracts by Franklin Alexander and Gladys Mitchell are "Untitled" and "Design in Pink" respectively. A white canvas by Eleanor Edwards is labeled "Portrait." Look and perhaps ye shall see.

Recent gallery visitors from the West Coast are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Proctor of Wenatchee, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Kiser of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Paul T. Frankl of California.

Program Set Saturday
Working much in the style of Otis Skinner and Ruth Draeger, the Marshalls offer a wide variety of ballad-sketches, traditional folksongs and dramatic monologues. For the second program in this series, they will present an adaptation of a short story by Erskine Caldwell, called "The Crack" and two additional sketches written by David Marshall. Many authentic folk-duets are also included. The program is scheduled Saturday July 12, at 8:30 p. m.

During the season the Marshalls have scheduled such works as "Gone for a Soldier," an original setting for a Civil War theme, plus "Time Out of War," a new prize-winning short feature film from the University of California movie department. Other highlights include "The Lincolns" about the early life of Abe and Mary; "Spoon River," a new dramatic production of the classic American anthology by Edgar Lee Masters, and a "Fiddler's Contest" with invitations to all comers who have mastered the art of old time country fiddling.

A barbecue-picnic and special radio broadcast of the eliminations and awards will round out the day. The winner will spend a day in New York City with solo appearances on top radio and TV shows. Specific dates for these programs will be announced soon.

Mari Galleries Get High Praise

The opening of the new Mari Galleries on Main Street on July 4 was one of the most exciting, colorful and festive events of the early Woodstock summer season.

Scores of friends and art patrons visited the galleries throughout the afternoon and one and all delighted in the varied exhibition. Many were very enthusiastic about this newest art-showplace as one more attraction in which Woodstock can take pride.

All the gallery rooms are large, airy, and most attractive, but especially charming is the new addition. Here, the paintings and sculpture are excellently lighted by an extensive skylight, and living cherry trees in one corner are a perfect setting for the handsome Wayne jugs surrounding them.

Angeloch Exhibition
From the main gallery or from the new gallery, one steps outdoors to find colorful pottery and intriguing Mexican plaques displayed beneath overhanging eaves. Beyond this, one enters a garden gallery whose "walls" are evergreens, fruit-laden cherry trees, and flowering shrubs; here, a well-arranged exhibition of large pieces of sculpture holds one's interest.

A special feature of the gala opening was the first-viewing of Robert Angeloch's one-man exhibition in the gallery beyond the new wing. The shimmer and glisten of "Tide Pool" water, the variety of green in "Green Trees," and the beauty in a humble bouquet of wildflowers ("Still Life With Tapa Cloth") are only a few of the pleasures one may have in viewing this exhibition. Winner of quite a number of awards, Mr. Angeloch has exhibited widely. His exhibition at the Mari Gallery continues through July 17th.

Marshalls Plan First Program Of 'Americana'

Parnassus Square, the attractive barn gallery in the heart of Woodstock is the scene of a delightful experience in American theatre. Here, David and Herta Marshall are presenting a new series of "Americana" programs using the songs, poetry, plays, sketches and tall tales from our vast American heritage.

This unique husband and wife team has played in more than 100 cities and towns in the country during the last four years, with numerous appearances for art associations, children's groups, historical societies, radio-TV and motion pictures. Along with plans to settle permanently in Woodstock, they have launched their series as the beginning contribution to a community already famous for development of many artists in every field.

Metropolitan Play Area Is Now Open

The new Metropolitan play area (formerly Barmann's Park) located on the corner of Greenkill and Clinton Avenues, is now open to the children of the vicinity.

Supervision is provided by the Kingston Recreation Department and will be under the leadership of Miss Martha Showers. Activities planned for the summer include weekly outings to points of interest in Kingston games of low organization, girls interpark softball and instruction in crafts. A special event will be conducted each week. The special event planned for this Thursday afternoon is a "Scavenger Hunt." Awards will be given to the winners.

De Gaulle Gives Soustelle Post

PARIS (AP)—Premier de Gaulle made a token payment to the French colonials in Algeria today, appointing Jacques Soustelle to his Cabinet as information minister.

Soustelle was the political brains behind the Algerian colonials' May 13 revolt against the Paris government which brought De Gaulle to power. His omission from the Cabinet had been a sore spot with the French Algerians.

The colonials still probably will not be entirely satisfied. They want Soustelle named resident minister for Algeria, figuring they could count on him to preserve their dominance of the government in Algeria and to block any compromise with the Moslem rebels.

So far De Gaulle has been his own minister for the North African territory, using Gen. Raoul Salan—the military commander in chief in Algeria—as his man on the spot.

Greene Couple Fined $400 in Kickback Case

CATSKILL, N. Y. (AP)—A town highway superintendent and three other persons received suspended jail sentences Monday on conspiracy charges that stemmed from an investigation of kickbacks.

John C. Parks, Town of Greenville superintendent, and his wife, Betty, paid fines totaling $400.

Through Elmer Whitebeck and Harry Jansen, Parks rented to a truck registered in Mrs. Parks' name. All four pleaded guilty to a conspiracy indictment.

Judge Roy C. Moon of Greene County Court fined Parks $250 and suspended a one-year sentence. Mrs. Parks was fined $150 and received a six-month suspended sentence. Whitebeck and Jansen each received a six-month suspended sentence.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackets probes plunge today into hearings on Chicago's racket-harried restaurant industry, against the background of an old San Francisco murder.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) lined up big-time gangsters, the operators of some plush Chicago dining spots and labor union officials as major witnesses.

With this new set of hearings the committee seeks to portray in detail what it charged in last week's preliminary hearings—that a highly organized criminal syndicate under discipline of the Mafia Black Hand mob is gaining dangerous power over legitimate industries and labor unions from coast to coast.

Area Man Named To Accountants' National Board

Hamilton E. Meharg, budget supervisor of Daystrom-Weston Industrial Division of Daystrom, Inc., Poughkeepsie, has been named to the national board of directors of the National Association of Accountants at the annual election of officers held recently in Chicago.

Among local residents attending the 39th international accounting conference of the association were Mrs. Meharg, Vincent D. Amodeo, comptroller of DeLaval Separator Co.; Bernard Tucker, treasurer of Fargo Manufacturing Co., and Ronald P. McKeefrey, Edward J. Miller and Michael J. Cervini, all of IBM, Kingston.

Among former local residents attending were Frederick Mahaney, IBM, Essex Junction, Vt., and William R. Meleling, IBM, Owego. Both were formerly connected with local IBM plants.

Tucker, who completed a two year term as national director, was elected to membership in the Stuart Cameron McLeod Society, an honorary organization open to past officers and directors of the national organization.

Next year's conference will be held during June in New York City.

Wreckage Is Sighted

TRENTON, Ont. (AP)—Wreckage of a small U. S. civil aircraft, believed to have carried one person was sighted today on a mountain four miles east of Sutton, Que.

The Canadian Air Force said there was no sign of life. A search and rescue unit official said the wreckage was spotted by a helicopter from Burlington, Vt., which had been called into the search by the Air Force.

Difficult terrain made it impossible for the helicopter to land and ground parties started working their way up the thickly wooded slopes.

A single-seat Mooney plane left Quebec City Monday afternoon on a flight to Burlington. About 1½ hours later two farmers near Sutton reported seeing a plane go down about 35 miles southeast of Montreal.

Air Force officials said they had no information on the home base of the plane or the identity of its occupant.

By CHARLES J. TIANO

It was just a terse statement at the bottom of the boxscore sheet, but it symbolized the end of a dream.

The dream is now nearly ten years old. It was inspired by the overwhelming success of the first Little League organized in Kingston. But the statement: "one inning was played unofficial because of lack of support by parents as umpires" sent your mind scurrying back to the early period when enthusiastic and hopeful men said it could never happen.

Tragically, it has happened. Some of our Little Leagues are feeling the manpower pinch. There have been meetings galore designed to arouse parental enthusiasm in small fry baseball. League operators have pleaded for assistance but their pleas have fallen on deaf ears.

When Little League became a reality in Kingston there were those who predicted a new golden age for local baseball, despite TV and the annihilation of independent baseball by the ravages of war. These men who worked indefatigably to promote LL envisioned an inexhaustible source of supply for our future baseball needs.

These visionaries predicted an enlarged City League. They foresaw the organization and growth of Babe Ruth and Pony Leagues. And through these channels would emerge eventually the super team—the town team in the image of the legendary Kingston Colonials and the latter-day Kingston Recreations.

• Of Time and Disappointment

Actually, the results have not been that rewarding and by hard and fast standards can be classified only as dismal. The City League, to which every Little Leaguer was supposed to strive, has shrunk from eight to four teams. The city is represented in the New York-New Jersey League by an imported squad. The Babe Ruth and most Little Leagues play before naked stands. Somehow, the dream just hasn't materialized. Our high school teams have not been noticeably improved.

A striking illustration of what can happen to a league when parental and adult interest declines is this incident of a few years ago. A new league was being organized and one of its most enthusiastic proponents was orating on the inviolability of his circuit.

A man sat at a nearby table munching on a sandwich and sipping a glass of beer.

"I can appreciate your present enthusiasm," said the man with the sandwich to the orator of the moment. "But your real test will come in maybe three years. You have the manpower, enthusiasm, everything to make this a wonderful year. But let's check notes three years from now."

The restaurant where this vignette took place has long since shuttered, and the party of the second part is no longer associated with this particular Little League.

How did this all come out? Well, league isn't the roseate small fry paradise of those short three years ago. There have been several notices and public appeals for meetings and parental support. And this wasn't the league where the "unofficial one inning" was played because not even two of a potential 120 parents cared enough to volunteer his services as an umpire.

• Two-Sided Responsibility

Educators and physical education experts have attacked Little League because of its regimentation and the emotional frenzy it kindles in children who play men's games. There are hardened baseball men from the old school who claim we are making baseball too easy for the kids. They claim, and rightly so, perhaps, that the desire to play baseball should spring from within the kid himself and assert itself on sandlots and other playground areas. We are putting baseball on a platter and the kids, having quickly gorged themselves, are getting sick of it.

On the other side of the house, the oldies may be relinquishing to the Little League, the Boy Scouts and school organizations the parental problems of discipline and control of youth that should be their sole responsibility. Too many public or quasi-public agencies are being used by some parents as glorified baby sitters.

Little League still is on pretty solid foundations, but we detect signs of distress here and there. In time the erosion could become dangerous.

Little League will survive in the manner its original sponsor, Cart Stotz of Williamsport, Pa., dreamed it would, only if parents and players and coaches and managers face up to their responsibilities. These obligations last as long as junior wears the uniform. If men persist in turning their heads when duty calls in Little League, they need not worry about looking back. There will be nothing there to look at.

Youngest Entry
Tops Qualifiers
For Public LinksBy CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — If flaxen-haired Randy Petri, a lanky Texan from Austin, stays in the groove he could become the youngest player ever to win the National Public Links Golf crown.

Petri, 17-year-old son of a stereotypist for the Austin American Statesman, is a comer. Although he has been playing golf only four years, he won the Texas state high school title in 1957 and was runner-up last year.

The Stephen F. Austin High School student fired a 39-34-73 to match par over the 6,866 yardage of the gently rolling Silver Lake course Monday to be grouped among the first qualifying round leaders.

The field of 150 pay-as-you-play golfers finish their qualifying test today with the 64 low scorers entering match play Wednesday.

The youngest player ever to win the Public Links title was Les Bolstad, now golf coach at the University of Minnesota. He was 18 years and 3 months old when he took it in 1926.

Don Essig III of Indianapolis was five months older when he won last year at Hershey, Pa. The Louisiana State University team member is a serious threat to become the first to retain the championship since 1929.

Essig, Frank Schmidt of Dayton, 24-year-old sales representative, and Walt Durdle of Peoria, 25-year-old park district greenskeeper, wheel into the first round lead with 71s.

Grouped at 72 in the race for medalist honors are Jim O'Hern, Bellarmine College student in Louisville; steel inspector Chet Kasper of Chicago Heights, Ill., and Harry Jussatto, Western Illinois golf coach.

Along with Petri at 73 were Bill Krause of Palo Alto, Calif., and Sam Lima of East Detroit.

It was believed that six or seven berths would be made available to the mid-Hudson district. Merrill, a life guard at Twaalfskill, was the only Kingston entry this year.

Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, a seven-time winner of the state crown, was in the field. The state tournament starts July 23 at the Yahundasis Golf Club in Utica.

First Leg of Trot Classic
At Saratoga Wed.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fifteen top standardbreds are on tap for the first $20,000 leg of the 1958 Empire State Trotting Classics to be raced at Saratoga Raceway Wednesday night.

The classics, comprising eight $20,000 races, will alternate between the Spa and Vernon Downs on consecutive Wednesdays.

Top-ranked for the opener are Newport Star, Speedster, Ego Hanover, Guy K. Protector, Buckeye Demon and Lord Steward. Lord Steward is only $694 away from becoming the leading money-winner in harness racing history. The 11-year-old warrior became richest trotter earlier this year and now has earnings of $335,297. Adios Harry, the famed pacer, has won $693 more.

The top five in each of the first two heats will race in the final dash.

At Saratoga Monday night, Philbrick Hanover, a Hambletonian eligible, and Bantam, a 6-year-old, won divisions of the $2,400 Ghent Trot.

Philbrick Hanover, driven by Ralph Baldwin for the Two Gait Farm of Indianapolis, beat favored Charly by a neck in 2:09 2-5.

He paid $4.90. Over-driver A. C. Bean of Brand Lake reined Bantam to a half-length triumph over Good Humor. The time was 2:09. Bantam returned $11.20.

Jimmy Laird, driven by Don Corneau, sped to his sixth victory of the season at Buffalo Raceway in the feature $2,000 Class AA trot. The 3-year-old, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ward Maurer of Rochester, edged Czar Spencer in a photo. Jimmy Laird, who paid $4.80, was timed in 2:04 2-5.

Two-year-olds took the honors at Vernon Downs.

Adio Land, owned by the Egyptian Acre Stable, posted an unusually fast 2:04.3 in winning a pace for two-year-old fillies. She won by seven lengths.

Thalia Hanover, reined by Johnny Simpson, scored by 6½ lengths in winning a race for trotting fillies in 2:07.3.

Another two-year-old, Rodney Pick, covered the mile in 2:07.3 to whip Victorious Anne.

Easter Dawn roared down the stretch at Roosevelt Raceway to take the featured $4,250 Elks Class A handicap pace by a head over Mike Burton. Easter Dawn did the mile in 2:04 1-5 and paid $8.10.

Frisky Thomas and Victory Dynamic finished in a dead heat for third.

Hoot 'n' Toot, a bay filly, was an easy winner over five other 2-year-olds in the $3,000 Harness Writers Trot at Monticello Raceway. The winner, owned by Harold Glidden of Presque Isle, Me., was driven by Dana Irving.

Small Crowd
Sees 6-Inning
League Contest

Kansas City Monarchs nipped the Memphis Red Sox, 3-2, in a funeral setting before less than 125 fans last night at Dietz Stadium. Rain halted the contest after six innings.

The Negro American League champions, hitless through the first four innings, quickly loaded the bases in the fifth and chased three runs across on a single, long fly and infield error.

Arthur Simmons went the distance for the Monarchs and limited the Sox to three hits in the abbreviated contest that was halted by rain at the end of six innings. Charlie Pride yielded only three but the Monarchs had the good sense to jam them into the one big inning.

The game started under leaden, threatening skies and by the bottom of the fourth inning it was drizzling steadily. The teams played through a steady rain the last two innings.

Hitless through four innings, the Monarchs quickly loaded the bases in the fifth on a single by John Self, a base on balls and pitcher Simmons' perfect bunt along the third base line. Tidmore's long fly, an infield boot and Harold Hair's singleton put the Monarchs ahead to stay at 3-2.

Two walks, a single and outfield error enabled Memphis to score twice in the third inning. No player on either side got more than one hit. The only extra baser was a double by Barnes of the Red Sox in the fourth inning.

Dockery Wins
Split Nod Over
George BentonBy MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Dockery sweeps New York streets for a living and boxes when he can get a fight. Monday night the sanitation department's best middleweight weighed away George Benton's five-year unbeaten record.

The 29-year-old, 6 foot Dockery finished stronger than his fading foe in the last two rounds to win a split decision in their close 10-rounder in steaming St. Nicholas arena.

Considering the heat, it was a hard fought and good fight. It must have been over 90 degrees under the television lights and both fighters were glistening with perspiration after the first minute. Willie had more in reserve and that proved the difference.

Matchmaker Teddy Brenner said today he planned to rematch them for Aug. 4. Benton was the 3-1 favorite.

Referee Petey Della and Judge Joe Agnello each had Dockery ahead by 6-4 scores. Judge Frank Fullam scored it 6-4 in rounds for Benton. The P card had 5-5.

Benton, 161½, of Philadelphia, had the advantage when he pinned the taller 164½ pound rival to the ropes. He clobbered Willie good then. But at long range and in mid-ring, Dockery was better and more consistent.

Dockery's record is 24-5-3 and Benton's 33-3-1.

Home Pro Winner

Gressick Team Shoots
59 to Take Pro-Member

Bill Gressick, the home pro and his three partners, combined to win Monday's Northeastern New York PGA pro-member guest best ball tournament with a 13-under par 59 at the Catskill Country Club.

Playing with Gressick were Henry Knickerbocker of the Knickerbocker Country Club of New Jersey, Dr. P. Englert and Albert Mikhtarian.

The foursome jelled beautifully together, touring the front nine in 27, nine under, and returning with a four-under-par 32.

Second place went to the Rip Van Winkle Country Club (Palenville) of pro Ray Smith and his partners, George Vozdik of Saugerties and Phil Miller and Mike Krystobich of Catskill, with a 32-39-61.

Two teams tied for third place with 10-under-par totals of 62. They were pro Charlie De Stefano of Poughkeepsie and his mates, Sam Boyce, Neil Brantford and Sam Buckley of Catskill. The other team included pro Alex Sinclair of Mohawk, Bill Henderer, Robert Gilberts and Bill Ryder, all of Catskill.

Savel Paces Pros

Long hitting Steve Savel of Western Turnpike captured the 27-hole pro division with a 2-under par 106 on nines of 36-35-35.

Tony Fortino of Glens Falls matched par figures on the tricky Catskill layout with 34-39-35-108. Armand Farina, smooth stroking shotmaker from Schenectady, grabbed third place with 36-38-36-110.

Senior awards were given to Scotty Robertson, Ontario pro, who shot 112; Alex Gerlak, Twaalfskill, who fired a 113, and Eddie Brown, Columbia pro, who had 121.

Springfield Inks
Rangers Pact

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—The Springfield Indians have signed a working agreement with the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League for the 1958-59 season.

The local American League entry completed the arrangement Monday. Springfield, which ended its affiliation with the Boston Bruins after one year, becomes the second American League farm club for the Rangers who also have a working agreement with Buffalo.

Baseball to Remain
In Nation's CapitalBy WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—American League club owners and lawmakers senators have made it plain they want ball-playing Senators to remain in Washington.

Calvin Griffith, president of the capital's baseball team, broached the possibility of shifting to Minneapolis or elsewhere but dropped the idea after a closed session Monday with fellow owners here for the All-Star Game.

Griffith wouldn't commit his club to stay in Washington forever. He said no businessman can make such a promise. But for the time, at least, any move is out. Sen. William Langer (R-ND) vestigation. Sen. Karl Mundt (R-SD) said talk of depriving congressmen and their neighbors of big league baseball might cause second thoughts about a sports bill pending in the Senate.

The measure would allow pro baseball, football, basketball and hockey plenty of freedom to operate while subjecting their commercial activities to the antitrust laws.

The baseball Senators have become regular basement tenants in the standings. They're also last in home game receipts.

Word around All-Star headquarters was that Tom Yawkey, president of the Boston Red Sox, and likeminded officials argued baseball as the national pastime belongs in the national capital. They also were understood to have called the timing bad, in view of the Senate hearings on what critics have termed a club owners' monopoly.

Valdes to Change
Tactics for Carter

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Nino Valdes, the Cuban heavy, intends to be mean and tigerish when he meets Harold Carter, the Linden, N. J. Baptist Sunday School teacher, here Wednesday night.

"If Valdes knocks Carter out," says the Cuban's manager, Bobby Gleason, "I'm going to the New York Boxing Commission and put up $5,000 to challenge the winner of the Patterson-Harris fight." The 24-year-old Carter is expected to come in at 193 and Valdes at about 211 for the 10 rounder to be televised nationally (ABC) starting at 9 p. m. (EST).

The Redlegs defeated Batavia 7-1 Monday night and widened their lead to 5½ games over the fading Corning Red Sox, who fell before Erie 4-1.

The triumph was the Redlegs 18th in their last 20 games. Corning has lost 11 of its last 15 contests.

Wellsville took a doubleheader from Elmira, 5-4 and 5-2. The Braves picked up the opener on Walt Logan's single in the seventh that drove in the winning run.

Auburn edged Olean 6-5 in the first game of a twin bill cut in half by rain. A play at second base sent Olean's Owen Johnson to the hospital with spike injuries. Hurler Bob Risenhoover sparked Geneva's victory, striking out 11 and driving in two runs in the second.

Hand Fishing,
Title Bout on

MONCTON, N.B. (AP) — Yvon Durelle, British Empire lightweight boxing champion, is nursing a right hand injured while fishing near his home at Baie Ste. Anne, N. B.

But he says it won't stop him from beating Mike Holt of South Africa in a title fight in Montreal July 16. "It may bleed a little," Durelle says. "But what's a little bleeding?"

Fifth Player
Inks Celt Pact

BOSTON (AP) — Lou Tsioropoulos has become the fifth member of the Boston Celtics to return a signed contract for the 1958-59 National Basketball Assn. season.

The signing of the 6-5, 210 pound rebounder from Lynn, Mass., was announced today by President Walter Brown. In his second NBA season, the ex-Kentucky ace was assigned to guard the opposition's best scorer on defense.

Cincy Recalls
Dan Morejan

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dan Morejan, a rookie at 27, is almost the forgotten man of the Cincinnati Redlegs, but he'll still get his crack at the major leagues.

The Reds, hurtling for hitting, bought his contract Monday. The Cuban outfielder, a right-handed hitter, was one of a flock of prospects the Reds had to shed after spring training.

Now Redleg officials have put in a call for Morejan from Havana and in return sent down southpaw pitcher Gene Hayden.

Dick Bradley Wins With Two-Hitter

Alart's Service upended Hilltop Rest, 3-2, in the City Softball League yesterday, as veteran Dick Bradley unfurled a 2-hitter to gain the decision over L. Hritz, who was unviable after yielding three runs in the first inning.

In other games, Chez Emile scored in five straight turns at bat to trounce U. S. Van Lines, 11 to 5, and Pat and George's had an 8-run second frame en route to a 13-9 romp over Chapie's Taxi.

Ted Beland's double and a single by Joe Primo were the only hits off Bradley. Roy Casella hit a single and double and Mort Gazlay had two solos off Hritz.

Get Thirteen Hits

Chez Emile raked Corky Van Vliet for 13 hits including three singles by Tom Morrissey, Nick Carl, tripled and Buddy Smith and Mil Ebert had doubles. Mel Schlanger collected four of the 15 Chappie hits off Frank Couland and Hank Passante but they couldn't forestall defeat. Spec Ebelheiser stroked three singles.

Gene Fullmer Wins Easily

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP) — "He's the youngest 27-year-old I ever met."

That was the reaction of young Jim Hegerle who lost a middleweight boxing match Monday night to former champion Gene Fullmer at this small suburb of Salt Lake City.

Hegerle, only 22, was pounded savagely by the former champion in the 10 rounder. The St. Paul, Minn., boxer who weighed 156 said he could see why Fullmer was the champion at one time.

Two of the judges gave Fullmer every round on their scorecards. The referee, Ken Shulsen, gave Hegerle the first round but gave the former champ the last nine.

The West Jordan Mormon slugger weighed in at 160 for the bout, which was not broadcast or televised.

For Fullmer, it was the 45th win in 49 professional bouts. He lost the middleweight crown to Sugar Ray Robinson in 1957.

Little LEAGUERS

John Wilhelm Hurls 0-Hitter

John Wilhelm pitched a no-hit, no-run game for the Yankees and the opposing Giants hurler tossed a two-hitter in the Ellenville Little League last night. The Yankees won 2-0.

Wilhelm was never in trouble as he used a sharp curve ball to fan 10. He walked two. Dick Gorman started for the Giants. He went four full innings and was relieved by Lynwood Hittin.

Steve Horwath added some lustre to the Yanks win with a line drive homer over the left center field fence in the first frame when all the scoring was done.

The batteries:
Yankees 200 000-2
Giants 000 000-0

Wilhelm and Horwath; Gorman, Hittin and Bliden.

Yankees Shade Giants in Ulster

Konsek Leads Qualifiers For State Amateur Golf

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

John Konsek, the sharpshooting sophomore from Purdue, left no doubt today that he will be a big man in the State Amateur Golf Tournament late this month.

The 18-year-old Konsek, a finalist in the recent NCAA tourney, fired a four-under-par 68 Monday to pace 9 qualifiers from the Buffalo area.

Two other Jonnies, Ward and Forczyk, carded 68s to lead 15 qualifiers from the Syracuse section. Four qualified from the Lake Placid district, including Brian James Wilson, the commander of Plattsburgh Air Force Base.

Play Begins July 23

The state tourney will be held at Yahnundasis Golf Club at New Hartford, outside Utica, July 23-28. District eliminations are being held through July 13.

Konsek, who lives in Cheektowaga, scored the 68 on his home Lancaster Country Club course.

Seven others who qualified there were: Ed Kaczor, Dan Koehler and Bob Eckis, with 73s; Vince Muranyi Sr., 76; Joe Purcell and Bill Leach, 78s; and Al Smith, 79.

Migrant Worker Is Freed in Slaying After 14 Months

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A migrant worker who has served 14 months of a life sentence for the knife-slaying of an elderly farmer is a free man today.

The worker is Moses Tunstall, 31, a Negro convicted of first-degree murder by a Supreme Court jury last year.

A Wayne County grand jury indicted Tunstall on charges of stabbing August Williams, 75, at the farmer's home near Walworth shortly before Christmas, 1956.

The indictment charged Tunstall with stopping at the Williams home and cutting him down as he prepared some food for Tunstall.

After Tunstall's conviction, presiding Justice Charles B. Brasser sentenced him to a life term at Attica State Prison, but the Appellate Division, fourth department, set aside the verdict last March and ordered a new trial.

Justice Frederic T. Henry of State Supreme Court, at a special hearing here Monday, dismissed the indictment and ordered Tunstall freed.

He acted after Dist. Atty. Roger E. Davis of Wayne County said, "the prosecution now has no evidence which would remedy any deficiencies found by the Appellate Division."

A major deficiency cited by the Appellate Court was that the sole witness to the crime, the victim's invalid wife, died before she was able to appear before the grand jury.

Mrs. Eulalie Williams, 77, told police she saw the murder through the door from her rocking chair in the next room.

Police arrested Tunstall at a road block a few hours after the slaying.

Lands on Highway

GALLILEE, R. I. (AP) — Pilot Russell P. Easton of Binghamton, N. Y. lost in fog for 90 minutes, landed his single-engine plane on a highway here Monday.

Easton was enroute from Martha's Vineyard, off the Massachusetts coast, to Binghamton. He took off 30 minutes after landing. Easton lives at 1227 Cornell Ave. in Binghamton.

Contract Talks With Ironworkers Are Linger On

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — A three-week-old strike of ironworkers lingered on today, with contract talks off indefinitely. Negotiators for the Building Trade Employers Assn. and Local 60 of the Ironworkers Union reported that "some progress" was made during a 10½-hour meeting Monday. They said, however, no agreement was reached for ending the strike.

An employer spokesman said the association had offered to meet with union officials again today but that the union reported it could not. No future date was set. Approximately 1,500 ironworkers have been on strike in many Upstate areas since June 16 to support demands for wage increases. Another 20,000 men have honored picket lines, halting much construction. The ironworkers have reached agreement on a new contract only in Niagara Falls. The agreement there provided for a package increase amounting to 45 cents an hour over a two-year period. Locals still are on strike in Syracuse, Albany, Rochester, Binghamton, Elmira, Utica and sections of northern New York. Wage scales range from $3.50 to $3.60 an hour, according to a

You CAN have Better TV Reception
...Even in Deep Fringe Areas

"Traveling Wave" principle used by CHANNEL MASTER T-W
ANTENNA
strengthens picture pick-up

Don't resign yourself to poor TV reception just because you happen to live in a difficult reception area. After years of electronic research, Channel Master has developed the T-W antenna—especially designed to bring in those far away stations that you have not been able to get. It's all made possible by the T-W's revolutionary

"Traveling Wave" principle. This remarkable antenna actually reinforces picture signals electronically—on all channels (2-13). No other antenna works so powerfully to eliminate 'snow', 'ghosts' and interference...to bring in stations beyond the range of ordinary antennas.

No Other Antenna Can Match

The Performance of

The Channel Master T-W Antenna

- Reinforces picture signals — on all channels
- Eliminates 'snow' and 'ghosts'
- Rejects interference
- Lasts years longer

OVER 5 TIMES STRONGER

The really rugged T-W antenna won't bend or break—even in the worst weather conditions. All aluminum, too—can never rust. You'll enjoy long years of trouble-free reception when you use the Channel Master T-W antenna.
